SURVIVAL CITY BATTERED BY FURY OF TEST BLAST

DONNA MARIE CRESCENZI, 3½, the American Hearing society's 1955 National Hearing week poster girl, presents a bouquet to President Eisenhower in the White House. Holding her is her mother, Mrs. Fred Crescenzi of Milford, Mass. The occasion was a visit by girls of Clarke's School for the Deaf, Northampton, Mass.

Record Budget Placed Before Ohio Assembly

Money Bill $11 Million More Than Governor Has Recommended

COLUMBUS (AP) — An immense $942,744,470 budget, biggest in Ohio history, moved into the House today after winning approval of the House Finance Committee.

It is $11,204,848 above the recommended two-year budget of Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

Almost all the increase was marked for a new mental health program, a "brains instead of bricks" movement that seeks cure instead of costly, prolonged confinement for Ohio's mentally ill.

Most of the budget increase would be financed by boosted prices in the state's liquor monopoly system. That increase, estimated at 50 cents a gallon on 100-proof liquor, would bring the state an estimated $11 million every two years.

The big budget bill, approved last night, probably will go to a vote next Wednesday.

BOTH THE Democratic governor and the Republican-controlled Legislature are pushing hard for an improved mental health program.

The House Republican majority is committed to a program which will enable state-trained psychiatrists to work at solving the problems of Ohio's mental patients.

With the big money deal in the House, the Senate votes today on a House-approved measure appropriating $5,860,000 to pay off the poor relief bill for the two-year period which ends June 30.

The emergency bill would be effective as soon as Gov. Lausche signs it. It would represent the second addition to the state's share of poor relief funds to meet the deficiency in the 1953 Legislature's appropriation.

The big money business was the final chapter in the 101st General Assembly's 18th work week.

Weeks ago, the state controlling board voted the release of more than $5 million in state funds to meet the state's poor relief obligations.

The Senate vote today came against a backdrop of a Senate Finance Committee investigation into the prosperity of a state poor relief appropriation of $34 million for the next two years—twice the amount for the present two-year period.

Full Sovereignty Is Granted To West German Republic

BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German Republic became a sovereign nation in alliance with the free world today. The 10-year Allied occupation ended at noon.

Two short ceremonies wiped out the supreme powers wielded by the United States, Britain and France over the 50 million West Germans since 1945.

In the first, the Allied High Commission repealed all its laws and abolished itself by proclamation.

Then the British and French high commissioners completed the formality of depositing the sovereignty treaty at Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's office. The United States and West Germany did this April 20.

The French and West German governments simultaneously put into effect their agreement to Europeanize the Saar.

"The occupation statute is revoked and the Allied High Commission and the offices of land (state) commissioners in the Federal Republic are abolished," the high commissioners' proclamation said.

Sixty Allied laws and 130 ordinances were repealed by the declaration, which was signed by Dr. James B. Conant of the United States, Sir Frederick Hoyer Millar of Britain and Andre Francois - Poncet of France. They now become their nations' ambassadors to the Bonn Republic.

"Federal Germany has reentered into the circle of free nations," said Francois - Poncet, chairman of the High Commission's first meeting Sept. 21, 1949, and of its 109th and final session.

"We wish to believe that the free nations will find Germany a loyal and efficient partner, enlightened by the memory of her past ordeals. We wish her good luck on the road she will follow, mistress from now on of her own destiny."

Conant said:

'All of us are gladly giving up our responsibilities and our authority, and we rejoice in the fact that the Federal Republic of Germany is being welcomed into the family of sovereign nations."

In the final ceremony, Hoyer Millar and Francois-Poncet call on President Theodor Heuss tonight to present their fresh credentials as ambassadors to the newly sovereign republic.

Conant, whose appointment as ambassador has not yet been confirmed by the U. S. Senate, will go along to deliver a message of congratulations from President Eisenhower.

Atomic Shot Equals 20,000 Tons Of TNT

Hour After Explosion, Atomville Still Covered By Deadly Dust Cloud

SURVIVAL CITY, Nev. (AP)—Atomic fury at least one and a half times as powerful as the blast that leveled Hiroshima struck at this tiny test town today.

It knocked out the 250-watt radio station located less than a mile from the heart of the great nuclear explosion, and caused extensive damage to the four homes along Doomsday Drive only 4,700 feet from the blast tower.

The huge device packed a fireball lasting 25 seconds and a power of between 30 to 35 kilotons. The bombs that hit Hiroshima and Nagasaki contained 20 kilotons of power or 20,000 tons of TNT.

The great white flash from the explosion was seen throughout the Southwest and 500 miles northwest at Klamath Falls, Ore. It also lighted the sky across the Mexican border from San Diego, Calif., and was sighted in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Salt Lake City and Phoenix, Ariz.

* * *

ALTHOUGH IT illuminated Los Vegas, Nev., 75 miles away, brighter than the sun for an instant, no concussion was felt there. However, the burst jarred Henderson, near Las Vegas.

The scattered little test city here (it might be a suburb in any part of the United States) lay completely enveloped in dust, some of it radioactive, a few minutes after the detonation. An hour later Atomville still was completely obscured from the view of observers on News Nob, eight miles back.

The shock wave, a jolting wallop unequalled by any previous public test, hit observers in trenches at 2,600 and 3,500 yards and

GOP Aims KO At Farm Bill

Dem-Led Faction Seeks To Kill Flexible Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)— Republican House forces hoped with the aid of some Democratic votes to administer a knockout blow today to a bill to scrap the administration's flexible farm price supports.

The House Democratic leadership, seeking to restore price supports to high rigid levels opposed by President Eisenhower, suffered a setback yesterday. The House voted 186-150 to eliminate peanuts from the list of basic farm commodities on which price supports are mandatory.

That tentative vote was subject to a later rollcall on which it could be affirmed or reversed. Some Northern Democrats voted with the Republicans.

In advance of today's session, Rep. Harrison (R-Neb), a leader of the administration farm forces, predicted the bill will be defeated.

The Senate has not acted and has indicated it will not consider such a bill this year. And even if one should pass, it probably would be vetoed by the President.

Eisenhower said yesterday the price squeeze now being experienced by farmers stemmed from the old program of price supports at a rigid 90 per cent of parity.

* * *

HE SAID THE new plan, which does not take effect until this year's crops are harvested, should be given an opportunity to work and that he is convinced it will bring permanent prosperity to farmers.

The bill before the House would scrap the present flexible program of supports at 82½ to 90 per cent of parity, and reinstate mandatory supports at 90 per cent on basic crops. Parity is a legal standard designed to give farmers a fair return in relation to their costs.

The peanut amendment, if allowed to remain in the bill, threatened to split high-support forces by denying that crop the mandatroy supports now provided for them and for rice, corn, wheat, cotton and tobacco.

Vote On Labor Ban Nearing In House

COLUMBUS (AP)—A bill to bar labor groups from contributing to political campaigns is slated for an Ohio House vote after approval last night by the House Elections and Federal Relations Committee.

The bill would extend the present law prohibiting business corporations from similar contributions.

Labor groups have opposed the measure on grounds that it would violate constitutional guarantees of free speech and press.

The bill provides for fines of $500 to $5,000 for violations of some sections dealing with corporations and labor organizatinos, and up to a $1,000 fine and a year in prison for an individual violator.

Toll Revenue Up

COLUMBUS (AP) — Toll revenue during April for the Eastgate section of the Northern Ohio Turnpike totaled $109,776.25. During the first five months of operation, the section had a total revenue of $441,455.05, collected from 1,079,794 vehicles.

Pickaway County 8th In Death Toll

Traffic Accident Report Reveals Area Has 133 Per Cent Increase

(First of a Series)

"Killer County"-Pick a w a y-has the notorious distinction of recording the eighth highest increase in traffic deaths in Ohio for the first three months of this year. The state has 88 counties.

Pickaway County had seven fatalities in the first quarter of 1955 as compared with three in 1954—an increase of 133 per cent.

The apparent top "killer" for the first third this year is Pike County, where the Atomic Plant is located. According to a report just received from the Department of Highway Safety, Pike County h[illegible]o deaths in the first four m[illegible] of 1954—but has registered [illegible] the same period this ye[illegible]

Next is Clinton County with an increase of 600 per cent; Williams County has 350 per cent; Lorain County, 300 per cent; Meigs, 200 per cent; Greene County, 167 per cent; and Hancock County, 150 per cent.

* * *

OHIO'S traffic death toll for the first three months showed an overall 8 per cent decline as compared with 1954.

Officials in Pickaway County, taking notice of the county's high place in the state in the matter of traffic death increases, have begun to act.

A local traffic safety committee is being reorganized, largely through the efforts of William Ammer, county prosecutor. A steering committee has been formed to nominate officers and draw up a constitution.

This committee has scheduled its second meeting for Friday afternoon. Major plans will be announced.

The Circleville Kiwanis Club has instituted a Safe and Sane Driving Certificate, endorsed by a number of local organizations and departments.

* * *

THE OHIO Department of Highway Safety and its director, U. C. Felty, have promised Pickaway County their full cooperation. Sgt. Joe Wolfe, of the State Highway Patrol assigned to Felty's office, has been here to help.

Pickaway countains have become increasingly aware of the rapid rise here of not only fatalities but accidents as well. The county would rate even closer to the top in percentage of fatality increases; two of the counties above it had deaths resulting from car-train collisions.

Death after dark is still a major problem in Ohio traffic. Of the state's 399 fatalities so far in the first three months, 253 were due to fatal mishaps at night. This is despite the fact that only one-third of the travel occurs during the hours of darkness.

Pickaway County held up its own on this, with five of its seven deaths being recorded at night.

* * *

(In the second article, The Herald will show what can be done. Mercer County, whose population and square mileage is almost the same as Pickaway County's, has put its traffic safety program into action. In the first three months of this year, Mercer County has cut its traffic toll by one-half.

Akron Judge Takes Aim At High Justices

COLUMBUS (AP)—An Akron common pleas judge, seeking to have the Ohio Supreme Court hear his pending cases, has asked the U.S. Supreme Court for action.

Judge Walter B. Wanamaker yesterday in Washington asked the high court to permit him to file a mandamus action requiring the Ohio Supreme Court to consider the cases.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of Ohio's highest court said Wanamaker's cases had been assigned for oral argument May 11. He said Wanamaker was notified by letter of this action last April 18.

The cases include a move to delete part of a decision by the Ohio Supreme Court which Wanamaker termed libelous, and to have the hearing before appellate judges instead of Ohio Supreme Court justices.

Wanamaker imposed a one to 10-year sentence on Frank Hashmall, admitted Communist active in Akron, Columbus and Cincinnati, for using a false name and address in registering an auto, but the Ohio Supreme Court reduced this to six months to five years.

The Akron judge denied he gave the stiffer penalty because of Hashmall's Red affiliations.

Curbs On Televised Politicians Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) asked Congress today to require candidates to tell television audiences if they use prompting devices or facial makeup.

His aim, he said, is "to eliminate elements of the theatrical and the synthetic from our national political life." He added: "We require today that radio listeners be informed when they are hearing a recording or a transcription." He said he sees no reason why TV viewers should not also be told when a candidate is reading his speech.

Coal Mine Mishaps Claim 111 Lives

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coal mine accidents killed 111 men during the first three months of 1955, seven more than in the similar 1954 span.

The fatality rate for this year's first quarter was 1.05 for each million man-hours of exposure, compared with a rate of 0.99 for the 1954 period.

There were 97 deaths in bituminous coal mines and 14 in anthracite mines.

By months the deaths were: January 38, February 47 and March 26. The March rate of 0.75 was the lowest since October.

Juke Boxes Probed

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal officials say subpenas for records pertaining to the juke box industry have been served on distributors in seven midwest cities, including Cleveland and Youngstown. A federal grand jury is probing the industry for possible antitrust violations.

Phenix City's Ex-Prosecutor Given Freedom

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Arch Ferrell, prosecutor at bawdy Phenix City in the days of its lush rackets empire, is free of the charge that he murdered vice foe A. L. Patterson last June 18.

The 38-year-old Ferrell sat tense yesterday as a jury returned the verdict of acquittal after deliberating 13 hours and 11 minutes. The decision came after a 17-day trial.

The young attorney, stripped of his office in the cleanup campaign which followed the Patterson slaying, had nothing to say to newsmen concerning his future plans.

Patterson was shot down outside his law office 17 days after he had been nominated as Alabama attorney general on a pledge to wipe out Phenix City's multi-million-dollar vice empire.

Ferrell was one of three men charged with the slaying. Albert Fuller, former chief deputy sheriff at Phenix City, was convicted and sentenced to life here March 11. Former Atty. Gen. Si Garrett is in a mental hospital in Galveston, Tex., and has not been tried.

The former prosecutor contended that he was talking with Garrett, who was in Birmingham, on the phone at the instant Patterson was slain. Garrett told the same story to Birmingham reporters the night of the killing. He was not here for the Ferrell trial.

Ferrell sat frozen in his chair after the verdict. His attractive brunette wife was tearful with joy.

Ohio Bootlegging On Increase; Some City Courts Chided

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio Liquor Director William C. Bryant says bootlegging is on the increase, but says, "taking the state as a whole, the trend is toward better enforcement."

He said people sometimes fail to realize that it's up to local governments "to enforce liquor laws and regulations. The state department of liquor control is a supplementary agency—ready to serve when we are called in to help."

"Bootlegging definitely is on the increase in Ohio," he said, adding that some municipal courts are too easy on bootleggers and others make only a token try to stem their operations.

"Too many times the bootlegger is getting off easy," Bryant said. "In most places the crackdown is a good one, and the penalties are stiff ones. But in a few spots, it's a pretty lenient operation."

Fruehauf Trailer Order List Grows

DETROIT (AP)—Eight million dollars in new orders for 1,440 commercial trailers assure Fruehauf Trailer Co. of its "greatest first half in the company's history," Roy Fruehauf, president, says.

Fruehauf said sales for the first six months of 1955 will be "well above" $100 million. Customers demand, he added, is running far ahead of production.

Fruehauf said the company has purchased a 250,000-square - foot factory at Drayton Plains, Mich., and is adding space to its plant at Avon Lake, Ohio.

Last week, the company announced the purchase of a 100,000-square-foot factory at Delphos, Ohio, and plans additions to its plant at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Youth, 18, Held For Cop-Shooting

WARREN (AP) — An 18-year-old youth who police say shot and wounded a suburban Pittsburgh policeman last night was arrested here early today.

Police took William Mueller into custody at the home of an aunt. Mueller fled to Ohio, police said, after wounding Charles Rieck.

The Ross Twp. policeman was shot with a rifle after he and another officer sought to question the youth parked in an auto with his unidentified girl friend.

Rieck suffered wounds of the head and thigh. He is not in serious condition.

Trade Bills OKd

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio Republican Sen. Bricker and Bender yesterday both voted to extend the reciprocal trade agreements program for three years, a measure approved by the Senate, 75-13.

House Finance Group Sets Up Military Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today approved the administration's planned military manpower cuts and voted $31,488,206,000 in new defense funds.

It promised additional funds in a hurry "in the event of drastically worsened world conditions."

The recommended new money, coupled with unobligated funds from previous appropriations, would give the Defense Department $43,081,000,000 to spend during the bookkeeping year starting next July 1 if the House and Senate go along.

That budget, the committee said in a formal report written by Rep. Mahon (D-Tex), emphasizes "continental air defense and our increasing potential for massive retaliation in the event of enemy attack."

Subject to House action next week, the bill approved by the 50-man committee provides $744,609,000 less new money than President Eisenhower requested, but much of the cut was more technical than real.

The committee's approval of the President's plan to cut Army strength about 75,000 during the coming year is certain to touch off a House battle. Rep. Flood (D-Pa), a committee member, said he would ask the House to boost the funds by $750 million to prevent military personnel cuts.

Generally Pleasant Weather Prevails

CHICAGO (AP)—There were some widely scattered thundershowers but generally fair and pleasant spring weather prevailed in most sections of the nation today.

The thundershowers were reported along a line from the eastern Great Lakes region, the lower Ohio Valley and in New Mexico.

Cooler air from Canada moved southward and most of the Midwest cooled off after a brief spell of summerlike weather. But temperatures mostly were above normal in the eastern two thirds of the country. Readings yesterday were in the 80s and 90s.

Water Pollution Bill Gets Senate OK

COLUMBUS (AP)—Yesterday, the Ohio senate passed and sent to the House a bill requiring the state water pollution control board to advise communities on solutions to problems presented to them by board orders forcing them to abate pollution.

Sen. C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens), the bill's sponsor, asserted Ohio's small communities need chiefly to know where they can market their sewage disposal plant bonds without undue expense, like a sale to a state retirement system.

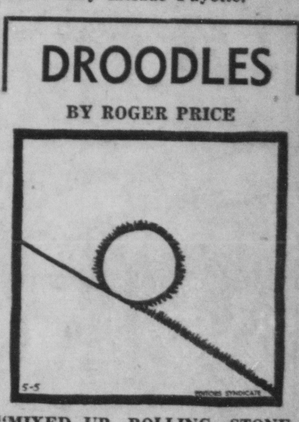
New Appellate Court Is Urged

COLUMBUS (AP)—Yesterday, the Ohio House passed and sent to the Senate a bill creating a 10th appellate court district — Franklin County.

That county is the home of the state capital and is saddled with much of the legal action which surrounds state government. Franklin County now is in the 2nd Appellate District along with 10 other counties in west - central Ohio. They include Fayette.

DROODLES

BY ROGER PRICE



"MIXED UP ROLLING STONE GATHERING MOSS"

I made up this Droodle at the last meeting of the F.S.S.T. (Flying Saucer Spotters of Terra). We had invited a guest speaker, Dr. Fritz Zitt, the eminent psychiatrist, whose topic was "Are The Schizophrenics on Mars as Cookoo as Those on Earth?" But Dr. Schwine kept making paper airplanes and yelling "Duck, Baldy" as he threw them at Dr. Zitt, which upset Dr. Zitt so he refused to finish the lecture. So Dr. Kitzenger carried on with a half hour of Swiss Bird Calls and amusing Finger Shadows after which Miss Patricia Del Ray sang our theme sang, "How High the Moon." I note these details here to prove to certain skeptics that our F.S.S.T. meetings are constructive and not a waste of time.

Vietnamese Group Ousts Bao Dai As Chief Of State

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)— Two Vietnamese "congresses" met in Saigon today. One thunderously demanded the removal of chief of state Bao Dai. The other was expected to insist that the ex-Emperor keep his hands off Viet Nam's government until a national assembly can be elected.

And there was sharp rejection of advice given by U. S. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, President Eisenhower's envoy, that South Viet Nam would be more stable with a constitutional monarchy than as a democratic republic.

Bao Dai's ouster was demanded summoned by the "National Revolutionary Committee," which last week demanded he be deposed.

* * *

A CROWD of 4,000 political leaders, revolutionary committees and local and provincial officials jammed a Vietnamese theater for the meeting.

The executive committee of the other congress, a "states general" of elected local and provincial councilors and tribal chiefs, continued secret sessions begun yesterday at Premier Ngo Dinh Diem's Independence Palace.

The "states general" was not expected to demand Bao Dai's immediate ouster but instead that he take only a figurehead role.

But the 4,000-man national political congress by voice vote approved a resolution to:

1. Depose Bao Dai, who has been trying to oversee the government by remote control from the French Riviera.

2. Dissolve the Bao Dai-appointed government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem and empower Diem to form a provisional regime which would hold national elections soon.

The assembly, nearest thing to a popular national congress Viet Nam has ever had, took the decision at the close of a tumultuous, two-hour session.

It was held in a Vietnamese theater on Boulevard Gallieni, scene of recent bloody battles between the national army supporting Diem and the outlaw Binh Xuyen force.

A resounding "No" welled up from the gathering when it was asked, "Shall we retain Bao Dai?"

"Do you decree that Bao Dai question. A roaring "Yes" rang out in the chamber.

The emergency bill would be effective as soon as Gov. Lausche signs it. It would represent the second addition to the state's share of poor relief funds to meet the deficiency in the 1953 Legislature's appropriation.

The big money business was the final chapter in the 101st General Assembly's 18th work week.

Weeks ago, the state controlling board voted the release of more than $5 million in state funds to meet the state's poor relief obligations.

The Senate vote today came against a backdrop of a Senate Finance Committee investigation into the prosperity of a state poor relief appropriation of $34 million for the next two years—twice the amount for the present two-year period.

Full Sovereignty Is Granted To West German Republic

BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German Republic became a sovereign nation in alliance with the free world today. The 10-year Allied occupation ended at noon.

Two short ceremonies wiped out the supreme powers wielded by the United States, Britain and France over the 50 million West Germans since 1945.

In the first, the Allied High Commission repealed all its laws and abolished itself by proclamation.

Then the British and French high commissioners completed the formality of depositing the sovereignty treaty at Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's office. The United States and West Germany did this April 20.

The French and West German governments simultaneously put into effect their agreement to Europeanize the Saar.

"The occupation statute is revoked and the Allied High Commission and the offices of land (state) commissioners in the Federal Republic are abolished," the high commissioners' proclamation said.

Sixty Allied laws and 130 ordinances were repealed by the declaration, which was signed by Dr. James B. Conant of the United States, Sir Frederick Hoyer Millar of Britain and Andre Francois - Poncet of France. They now become their nations' ambassadors to the Bonn Republic.

"Federal Germany has reentered into the circle of free nations," said Francois - Poncet, chairman of the High Commission's first meeting Sept. 21, 1949, and of its 109th and final session.

"We wish to believe that the free nations will find Germany a loyal and efficient partner, enlightened by the memory of her past ordeals. We wish her good luck on the road she will follow, mistress from now on of her own destiny."

Conant said:

'All of us are gladly giving up our responsibilities and our authority, and we rejoice in the fact that the Federal Republic of Germany is being welcomed into the family of sovereign nations."

In the final ceremony, Hoyer Millar and Francois-Poncet call on President Theodor Heuss tonight to present their fresh credentials as ambassadors to the newly sovereign republic.

Conant, whose appointment as ambassador has not yet been confirmed by the U. S. Senate, will go along to deliver a message of congratulations from President Eisenhower.

Phenix City's Ex-Prosecutor Given Freedom

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Arch Ferrell, prosecutor at bawdy Phenix City in the days of its lush rackets empire, is free of the charge that he murdered vice foe A. L. Patterson last June 18.

The 38-year-old Ferrell sat tense yesterday as a jury returned the verdict of acquittal after deliberating 13 hours and 11 minutes. The decision came after a 17-day trial.

The young attorney, stripped of his office in the cleanup campaign which followed the Patterson slaying, had nothing to say to newsmen concerning his future plans.

Patterson was shot down outside his law office 17 days after he had been nominated as Alabama attorney general on a pledge to wipe out Phenix City's multi-million-dollar vice empire.

Ferrell was one of three men charged with the slaying. Albert Fuller, former chief deputy sheriff at Phenix City, was convicted and sentenced to life here March 11. Former Atty. Gen. Si Garrett is in a mental hospital in Galveston, Tex., and has not been tried.

The former prosecutor contended that he was talking with Garrett, who was in Birmingham, on the phone at the instant Patterson was slain. Garrett told the same story to Birmingham reporters the night of the killing. He was not here for the Ferrell trial.

Ferrell sat frozen in his chair after the verdict. His attractive brunette wife was tearful with joy.

Ohio Bootlegging On Increase; Some City Courts Chided

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio Liquor Director William C. Bryant says bootlegging is on the increase, but says, "taking the state as a whole, the trend is toward better enforcement."

He said people sometimes fail to realize that it's up to local governments "to enforce liquor laws and regulations. The state department of liquor control is a supplementary agency—ready to serve when we are called in to help."

"Bootlegging definitely is on the increase in Ohio," he said, adding that some municipal courts are too easy on bootleggers and others make only a token try to stem their operations.

"Too many times the bootlegger is getting off easy," Bryant said. "In most places the crackdown is a good one, and the penalties are stiff ones. But in a few spots, it's a pretty lenient operation."

Fruehauf Trailer Order List Grows

DETROIT (AP)—Eight million dollars in new orders for 1,440 commercial trailers assure Fruehauf Trailer Co. of its "greatest first half in the company's history," Roy Fruehauf, president, says.

Fruehauf said sales for the first six months of 1955 will be "well above" $100 million. Customers demand, he added, is running far ahead of production.

Fruehauf said the company has purchased a 250,000-square - foot factory at Drayton Plains, Mich., and is adding space to its plant at Avon Lake, Ohio.

Last week, the company announced the purchase of a 100,000-square-foot factory at Delphos, Ohio, and plans additions to its plant at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Youth, 18, Held For Cop-Shooting

WARREN (AP) — An 18-year-old youth who police say shot and wounded a suburban Pittsburgh policeman last night was arrested here early today.

Police took William Mueller into custody at the home of an aunt. Mueller fled to Ohio, police said, after wounding Charles Rieck.

The Ross Twp. policeman was shot with a rifle after he and another officer sought to question the youth parked in an auto with his unidentified girl friend.

Rieck suffered wounds of the head and thigh. He is not in serious condition.

Trade Bills OKd

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio Republican Sen. Bricker and Bender yesterday both voted to extend the reciprocal trade agreements program for three years, a measure approved by the Senate, 75-13.

Vietnamese Group Ousts Bao Dai As Chief Of State

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two Vietnamese "congresses" met in Saigon today. One thunderously demanded the removal of chief of state Bao Dai. The other was expected to insist that the ex-Emperor keep his hands off Viet Nam's government until a national assembly can be elected.

And there was sharp rejection of advice given by U. S. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, President Eisenhower's envoy, that South Viet Nam would be more stable with a constitutional monarchy than as a democratic republic.

Bao Dai's ouster was demanded summoned by the "National Revolutionary Committee," which last week demanded he be deposed.

* * *

A CROWD of 4,000 political leaders, revolutionary committees and local and provincial officials jammed a Vietnamese theater for the meeting.

The executive committee of the other congress, a "states general" of elected local and provincial councilors and tribal chiefs, continued secret sessions begun yesterday at Premier Ngo Dinh Diem's Independence Palace.

The "states general" was not expected to demand Bao Dai's immediate ouster but instead that he take only a figurehead role.

But the 4,000-man national political congress by voice vote approved a resolution to:

1. Depose Bao Dai, who has been trying to oversee the government by remote control from the French Riviera.

2. Dissolve the Bao Dai-appointed government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem and empower Diem to form a provisional regime which would hold national elections soon.

The assembly, nearest thing to a popular national congress Viet Nam has ever had, took the decision at the close of a tumultuous, two-hour session.

It was held in a Vietnamese theater on Boulevard Gallieni, scene of recent bloody battles between the national army supporting Diem and the outlaw Binh Xuyen force.

A resounding "No" welled up from the gathering when it was asked, "Shall we retain Bao Dai?"

"Do you decree that Bao Dai question. A roaring "Yes" rang out in the chamber.

House Finance Group Sets Up Military Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today approved the administration's planned military manpower cuts and voted $31,488,206,000 in new defense funds.

It promised additional funds in a hurry "in the event of drastically worsened world conditions."

The recommended new money, coupled with unobligated funds from previous appropriations, would give the Defense Department $43,081,000,000 to spend during the bookkeeping year starting next July 1 if the House and Senate go along.

That budget, the committee said in a formal report written by Rep. Mahon (D-Tex), emphasizes "continental air defense and our increasing potential for massive retaliation in the event of enemy attack."

Subject to House action next week, the bill approved by the 50-man committee provides $744,609,000 less new money than President Eisenhower requested, but much of the cut was more technical than real.

The committee's approval of the President's plan to cut Army strength about 75,000 during the coming year is certain to touch off a House battle. Rep. Flood (D-Pa), a committee member, said he would ask the House to boost the funds by $750 million to prevent military personnel cuts.

Generally Pleasant Weather Prevails

CHICAGO (AP)—There were some widely scattered thundershowers but generally fair and pleasant spring weather prevailed in most sections of the nation today.

The thundershowers were reported along a line from the eastern Great Lakes region, the lower Ohio Valley and in New Mexico.

Cooler air from Canada moved southward and most of the Midwest cooled off after a brief spell of summerlike weather. But temperatures mostly were above normal in the eastern two thirds of the country. Readings yesterday were in the 80s and 90s.

Water Pollution Bill Gets Senate OK

COLUMBUS (AP)—Yesterday, the Ohio senate passed and sent to the House a bill requiring the state water pollution control board to advise communities on solutions to problems presented to them by board orders forcing them to abate pollution.

Sen. C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens), the bill's sponsor, asserted Ohio's small communities need chiefly to know where they can market their sewage disposal plant bonds without undue expense, like a sale to a state retirement system.

Atomic Shot Equals 20,000 Tons Of TNT

Hour After Explosion, Atomville Still Covered By Deadly Dust Cloud

SURVIVAL CITY, Nev. (AP)—Atomic fury at least one and a half times as powerful as the blast that leveled Hiroshima struck at this tiny test town today.

It knocked out the 250-watt radio station located less than a mile from the heart of the great nuclear explosion, and caused extensive damage to the four homes along Doomsday Drive only 4,700 feet from the blast tower.

The huge device packed a fireball lasting 25 seconds and a power of between 30 to 35 kilotons. The bombs that hit Hiroshima and Nagasaki contained 20 kilotons of power or 20,000 tons of TNT.

The great white flash from the explosion was seen throughout the Southwest and 500 miles northwest at Klamath Falls, Ore. It also lighted the sky across the Mexican border from San Diego, Calif., and was sighted in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Salt Lake City and Phoenix, Ariz.

* * *

ALTHOUGH IT illuminated Los Vegas, Nev., 75 miles away, brighter than the sun for an instant, no concussion was felt there. However, the burst jarred Henderson, near Las Vegas.

The scattered little test city here (it might be a suburb in any part of the United States) lay completely enveloped in dust, some of it radioactive, a few minutes after the detonation. An hour later Atomville still was completely obscured from the view of observers on News Nob, eight miles back.

The shock wave, a jolting wallop unequalled by any previous public test, hit observers in trenches at 2,600 and 3,500 yards and

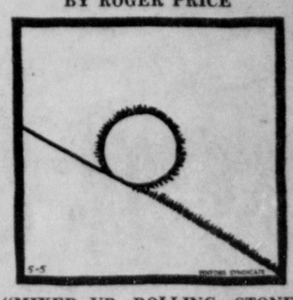
New Appellate Court Is Urged

COLUMBUS (AP)—Yesterday, the Ohio House passed and sent to the Senate a bill creating a 10th appellate court district — Franklin County.

That county is the home of the state capital and is saddled with much of the legal action which surrounds state government. Franklin County now is in the 2nd Appellate District along with 10 other counties in west - central Ohio. They include Fayette.

DROODLES

BY ROGER PRICE



"MIXED UP ROLLING STONE GATHERING MOSS"

I made up this Droodle at the last meeting of the F.S.S.T. (Flying Saucer Spotters of Terra). We had invited a guest speaker, Dr. Fritz Zitt, the eminent psychiatrist, whose topic was "Are The Schizophrenics on Mars as Cookoo as Those on Earth?" But Dr. Schwine kept making paper airplanes and yelling "Duck, Baldy" as he threw them at Dr. Zitt, which upset Dr. Zitt so he refused to finish the lecture. So Dr. Kitzenger carried on with a half hour of Swiss Bird Calls and amusing Finger Shadows after which Miss Patricia Del Ray sang our theme sang, "How High the Moon." I note these details here to prove to certain skeptics that our F.S.S.T. meetings are constructive and not a waste of time.

GIs in tanks at a distance of only 3,100 yards. It was felt as a sharp earthquake on the Nob.

The dust pall filled all of Yucca Flat—20 miles long and 10 miles wide—within an hour and a quarter after the 5:10 a. m. blast.

Army tanks started to roll forward, skirting the area some four minutes after the detonation. The 500-foot tower which had held the explosive was completely vaporized.

Six women in a Civil Defense trench and two others in an Army trench, both at 3,500 yards, withstood the blast. It was the first time women had been in trenches.

The first indication of damage to this test town was the discovery that the radio test station 4,700 feet from Ground Zero could no longer be heard. This station had been sending out a civil defense message on a wavelength of 1240 kilocycles.

The huge cloud was being borne by medium winds slowly southeast. The base of the stem containing dirt from the desert floor measured perhaps eight miles.

Fireworks Plant Blows Near Hudson

HUDSON (AP)—The explosion of a fireworks manufacturing plant shook this Summit County village last night and gave it several minutes of genuine terror.

A roar heard in five adjoining counties, and 23 miles away at the Akron-Canton Airport, heralded a blast which tore through most of the scattered small structures of Hudson Fireworks Display Co., on Ohio 91 at the south edge of town.

Alexander di Michele, the owner, estimated the loss at $100,000. He said no one was hurt.

Fireworks Plant Blows Near Hudson

HUDSON (AP)—The explosion of a fireworks manufacturing plant shook this Summit County village last night and gave it several minutes of genuine terror.

A roar heard in five adjoining counties, and 23 miles away at the Akron-Canton Airport, heralded a blast which tore through most of the scattered small structures of Hudson Fireworks Display Co., on Ohio 91 at the south edge of town.

Alexander di Michele, the owner, estimated the loss at $100,000. He said no one was hurt.

Taxman, Stockholder, Labor Leader All Hope For Cut Of Golden Flow

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Stockholders, labor union leaders and tax collectors have a happy gleam in their eyes today. Corporate profits are running 27 per cent ahead of last year. And each group hopes to tap a larger share of that tolden flow.

Cash dividends in the first three months of the year rose six per cent over a year ago to a total of two and one third billion dollars. Stockholders believe the big profit increase in that period will make directors equally as generous at least when the next payment time rolls around.

Labor union leaders are expected to ask for bigger wage hikes this year than last, citing as a chief talking point the increase in corporate profits in many industries.

And United States Treasury officials, scanning the first quarter reports of corporations, note happily that business is setting aside much larger reserves for federal income taxes than it did a year ago.

That foreshadows much larger collections for Uncle Sam when it comes time for corporations to hand over to him about one half of their gross earnings.

The happier business story this year has also meant larger payments to individuals. The Treasury is profiting now as employers withhold more from pay checks for individuals' income taxes. It will mean a greater take for the Treasry when it does its final figuring on tax collections next April 15.

Economists of the National City Bank of New York report 576 manufacturing companies whose first quarter earnings statements are now available have set aside as reserves for federal income taxes almost two billion dollars. This is a gain of almost 500 million dollars, or 32 per cent, over the first three months of 1954.

Five hundred million dollars doesn't last the U. S. Treasury very long, unfortunately. And neither does two billion dollars. But the unexpectedly large increase in corporate earnings in the January, February and March period—and the promise of as large or even larger gains in the April, May and June quarter—means that tax collections will also be larger. And every bit helps in paring down the federal deficit.

Prospects for the months ahead are brighter today, too. The Commerce Department reports that manufacturers found March one of their best months in history. They took in 29 million dollars worth of new orders in that month alone. This was five billion more than in the same month last year.

It means that sales will continue at a high level for several months ahead. When these new orders turn into sales at some future date, Uncle Sam will be right on hand to see that around one half of the profit on them is turned over to him as corporate income tax.

Since the U. S. Treasury gets most of its revenue from income taxes on business and individuals, any drop in business activity (which usually means lower wage payments, too) is quickly reflected in the state of the federal purse.

Last year manufacturers' sales fell 6.5 per cent. But reserves they set aside for federal income taxes dropped 26 per cent. They set aside 9¾ billion dollars for Uncle Sam. In 1953 they put aside 13 billions for him.

Part of the 1953 reserves were for the excess profits tax, now defunct. Butt his year, the way things are going now, corporations will put aside a lot more than they did last year and perhaps as much as two years ago.

Commerce Aide Very Optimistic

WASHINGTON (AP) — American businessmen have received an optimistic forecast of "buoyant," growing foreign trade in the next year for the United States and most of its free world partners.

This forecast was given E. E. Schnellbacher, intelligence director for the Commerce Department's Bureau of Foreign Commerce.

Schnellbacher said he foresaw increased export and import volumes as well as lowering of foreign trade barriers.

Governor Shunning Savings Loan Bill

COLUMBUS (AP)—A bill passed by the Legislature permitting Ohio savings and loan associations to loan up to $35,000 will become law without Gov. Frank J. Lausche's signature.

The governor said he refused to sign the bill because of a belief it was not "for the best interest of the financial associations and their savers and borrowers."

Measures passed by the Legislature become law within 10 days without the governor's signature unless he vetoes them.

The measure increases from $20,000 to $35,000 the loanable amount on a single property by Ohio associations. Sponsors said it put the Ohio associations in an equal competitive position with federal associations having the same limit.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband and I have been married for nearly 15 years and have two teen-age children whom we both love dearly. This past year my husband, now 45, has been staying away from home nights and weekends.

These absences were supposedly due to the job but, as they say, "The wife is always last to learn" —and recently I discovered that Dick is having a very serious affair with a young matron whose husband is overseas.

The discovery just about broke my heart; and in discussing the affair, Dick tells me that I may leave if I don't like it; that he isn't leaving, and is going to continue to live as he pleases.

I dearly love my husband, home and children; I don't believe in divorce, and have no intention of quitting my home. But living in these circumstances is beginning to wear on my nerves.

I am appealing to you for advice, concerning these men between 45 and 65 years of age, who look for 'greener pastures" of romance. Do they usually come back to their senses? Or is this "late love" the real thing? Your comment will be much appreciated. C. W.

Man Lacks Strength

DEAR C. W.: Dick's misconduct and defiant attitude in discussion with you, his refusal to repent or renounce his amour, and his insistance that he will do as he likes and won't leave home, all add up to infantile obstinacy in self-indulgence. He is an extremely weak, dependent character, who is being led by the nose down the primrose path, without being able to let go of you.

Between the lines, his ultimatum says that he won't leave home because he can't. He hasn't got that kind of strength—the strength to be decisive in a crisis—which doubtless also explains why he doesn't struggle against temptation.

In jibing at you to leave if you are displeased, he is taking for granted that you will stand by, I gather; which implies that he counts on your being a faithful sort of mom-slave to him, no matter how sorely he tries your soul.

Perhaps you are older than Dick —and-or his second wife. You've been married 15 years and he's now 45, so he wasn't exactly young when he espoused you. Maybe he has a history of emotional unreliability in relation to women, as you may have known in marrying him—which possibly explains why you are so philosophic about his disloyalty, even though made miserable by it.

Character Shapes Fate

Your determination to stay in the traces — provided your nerves can weather the strain of his selfishness—may be a sensible resolve, all things considered. It may do most, in the circumstances, to safeguard the welfare of yourself and the children. In time your husband may fall back into the pattern of duty—neither much worse, nor much wiser, than before. According to the analyst, Dr. Edmund Bergler, this is what usually happens when a middle-aged man tries to revolt against the fate his character has prepared for him.

Dr. Bergler has authored a quite original book "The Revolt of the Middle-Aged Man" (A. A. Wyn publishers), which explores the rather pathetic reasons why men, 45 to 65 years of age, tend to reject their wives and become involved with "sympathetic younger women." They are blindly seeking a second chance to avoid the mistakes of their past—an escapist drive that generally leads to additional punitive mistakes, the specialist finds.

My advice is to read the book, which is addressed as much to women as to men. The doctor is trying to provide both sexes with a saving understanding of the psychologically immature man's "emotional second adolescence," when he suddenly finds that his physical youth is on the wane.

Grandma Uncovers Uranium Bonanza

FARMINGTON, N. M. (AP) — A grandmother who started two years ago with a Geiger counter and a notion to give her ill husband some air is contemplating an offer of more than $1 million for one block of uranium claims.

Mrs. Jeannette V. Martin, said her claim is in the Sabinosa area in northeast New Mexico, about 40 miles west of Las Vegas.

Mrs. Martin and an Army colonel who is a "weekend prospector" are partners in the venture. The colonel, Benjamin E. Thurston, a career soldier, is at Camp Chaffee, Ark. Mrs. Martin said she and Thurston had 500 claims of 20 acres each on federal land.

Charles Pritchard Jr. served as master of ceremonies for the event. Toasts were given by: Lois Lively, for success; Laura Rose, for trust, Don Parker, for ambition, and Joietta Tatman, for readiness.

Laura Rose offered a saxophone solo, while a vocal solo was presented by Mary Ann Bode. Following an address by Josephine Nungester, the junior class offered several musical selections.

The class history was read by Valma Thompson, the class poem by June Swatman, the class will by Thelma Harmon, and the class prophecy by Jean Wright.

The evening closed with group singing, led by Margie Notestone.

Mother Of Year Gives Advice

NEW YORK (AP)—A bit of advice to parents everywhere from the American Mother of the Year:

"Love your children with all your hearts; love them enough to discipline them before it is too late."

Also, says 75-year-old Mrs. Lavina Christensen Fugal:

"A child should know discipline by the age of 3. Forget little things they do wrong that are not important. Praise them for important things, even if you have to stretch them a bit."

Mrs. Fugal is a hard-working farm widow from Pleasant Grove, Utah.

WITH THE BRITISH Toriess taking their continuing tenure on a national election May 26, it is noteworthy that the government cut taxes for every citizen old enough to cast a ballot. The reduction averages five per cent.

The structure of the British government and its elections vary with those of the United States, but this action by Prime Minister Eden's administration identifies the science of politics as unvarying in the free countries. In the year ended last month the British budget showed a surplus of $1.3 billion. It is estimated that, after the tax cut, there will be a surplus this year of more than $500 million.

So the Tory governmen could have reduced taxes at any time in the last year without unbalancing the budget. But it held back until the time when the cut would be fresh in the minds of poll-going voters.

The reduction will stimulate industry and employment by increasing consumer purchasing power. But if anyone thinks economic policy can be separated from politics, he has only to look at the staid old British Conservatives who want to win the election so badly that they will overlook no political bets, demagogic or otherwise.

UPTURN CONTINUES

AMERICAN automobile manufacturers, who staked hundreds of millions of dollars in their faith in resurgence of American business, have seen their bold stroke succeed in the first six weeks of the new year. Production is continuing at record levels, and retail sales are such that only a normal backlog of new cars is being built up to meet the usual spring demand.

It has been said that a new car is as indispensable to those who can afford it as Mrs. America's new hat. Of those who looked over the situation in the automobile industry last year and saw only gloom, many are ready to agree now that the automobile is a key to the American economy. Record auto production, and near-record sales, reflect the confidence of the public in the economic future.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

One of the most exciting cases to come before any court is that of Michael A. Musmanno, Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, v. Laurence H. Eldredge, official State Reporter. Involved is the refusal of the court reporter to publish the dissenting opinion of Justice Musanno in a case concerning the right of press photographers to take pcitures of a trial.

The majority of the Court upheld a lower Court's decision rejecting the photographer's demand that the sheriff's order be vacated; Justice Musmanno wrote a learned dissent which the majority sought to supress. Why the majority took such a view is not clear from the pleading except the statement:

"The Court as a whole should have discretionary power to decide in a given case that the publication of a particular dissenting opinion would be contrary to public policy."

Even if a court possessed such powers, it is not understandable from the record that any matter of public policy is involved in this case or that any very startling public issue was originally brought forward. The term "public policy" can cover a world of sins. This case may go to the Supreme Court of the United States on such fundamental issues as freedom of speech and the administration of our courts.

In his dissenting opinion, Justice Musanno said:

"To those who argue in the case at bar that freedom of the press is not restricted to freedom of printing. A printing press without material to print would be as useless as a vineyard without grapes, a flour mill without wheat, or an orchard without trees. Freedom of the press means to gather news, write, it, print it and circulate it.

"If any one of these operations is inhibited, freedom of the press becomes an empty phrase. Gathering of news includes photographing of the news, printing of photographs and reproduction of photographs in the finished newspaper. To prohibit the taking of photographs is no less an infringement of the freedom of the press than to prohibit the presence of a news reporter. . . ."

Surely nothing of public policy or the impairment of the dignity of the Court is stated in this dissent, unless questioning a judge's conduct, be he drunk or bull-headed, is, of itself, contemptuous. Musmanno states the case of the newspaper and particularly the photographer-reporter better than I have seen it elsewhere:

". . .In the story of every crime, every accident, every untoward happening goes the unspoken preachment that the reader could be the fateful and unfortunate reci-

A draftee turned up on sick call one morning and heard two hardended veterans discussing the doctor in charge. "He doesn't kid around," asserted one. "Fellow came in saying he had ptomaine poisoning so the doc cut off his big toe." "Yeah," agreed the second, "and remember the guy with erysipelas? The doctor just sliced away his left ear."

By this time the draftee had turned a sickly green. "Let me out of here," he begged. "I've got asthma!"

The patient in Room 726 was apoplectic with rage when the doctor stopped in on his morning round. "That idiot nurse that came on at 8 p. m." he roared, "plugged my electric blanket by mistake into the automatic toaster on my night table—and every four minutes I'm kept popping out of bed!"

"It isn't exactly a brand-new farmhouse,,' admitted the real estate agent reluctantly. "Just four rooms and path."

TAKE MY PLACE — By FRANCES SARAH MOORE

SYNOPSIS

Landon McCrae is on her way from her job in New York to the town of Windermere in Canada, where her happily married sister, Maggie Scarffe, is ill. A "spot" on Maggie's lung will send her from home for protracted treatment and in her absence, Landon will take over the household, comprising Maggie's husband, Eric, a teacher, her small daughter Merry-o and "Gran." Scott Wylie, bachelor and old beau of Landon, is delighted at the prospect of her return to Windermere. And she does return, to find her beloved Maggie wan and spent, yet courageous. But like the rest of the family, Landon manages a brave front until after Maggie leaves them.

CHAPTER FIVE

THROUGH a heat wave which left them all enervated, Eric drove himself so hard. Nightly intensive research, after a day of lectures and the drive to Breck and back, took off 10 pounds of flesh in no time and left him with not enough weight for his height. He began to wear thin around the eyes and mouth. Landon watched him, one evening, pushing his arms into his jacket sleeves. His bony wrists shot out from the cuffs as terribly young and vulnerable as Merry-o's. Landon felt a rush of tenderness for him, a stir of compassion, an urge to go to him and offer comfort. But she thrust it away. There was nothing she could say or do. One woman in all the world could take away his weariness and loneliness. It was not Landon McCrae.

After dinner one evening, with Eric at the sanatorium and Merry-o in bed, Landon sat alone on the terrace. Through the big picture window she could see Rowena under a 300-watt bulb, sewing new knees into a pair of dungarees. Rowena had refused to sit outside where the air was cooler. "If there's one mosquito in town, it always finds me," she said.

Omar arched himself against Landon's leg, his fur crackling at her absent-minded touch. The night hummed mysteriously. Landon found herself remembering the different hum of Manhattan nights, the feverish heat, people coming and going like jets, playing as fast and hard as they worked.

This was better. The scent of dark grass, the same old friends, casual days, your own home, security—as much as the world could offer.

Undoubtedly the chief drawback to Landon's becoming seriously involved with any of the men she had known in New York was the prototype of Maggie's life subconsciously in her mind. For, after the first homesick months in an alien room, there had been men—some with matrimonial ideas. Some of the men had frankly enjoyed bouncing their sharp wit and subtle innuendoes against the absoluteness of her youth and idealism. Landon liked them all. It was flattering being asked to listen to, and sometimes share, their fine bright dreams. Flattering, until her gradual and saddening realization that what they often talked about was only the small and very ordinary pieces that their dreams had broken up into. The glamour began flaking off like old paint. Landon began finding herself bored, and she would ache with longing for Windermere and people like Eric and Maggie and Scott Wylie.

Scarcely ruffling the random serenity of their flow, Scott slid into her thoughts. He lived only three streets away and at this hour, dusk thickening to dark, he often strolled over. Sometimes he'd take her for a drive along the highway with the car top down and the wind hard-pelting at their faces. Occasionally they went swimming, the water and the sky an exact pearly opalescence so you couldn't tell where one ended and the other began. They'd sit on the sand and smoke cigarets and talk, and she felt as easy and relaxed and companionable with Scott as with Eric. Like one of the family, she thought. But the trite analogy flitting through her mind gave her a faint sense of impatience.

Footsteps turned in at the walk.

Scott crossed the lawn and dropped down beside her. "Don't move. You look so restful."

"I was thinking about you."

"You were?" He took her hand. "That's fine."

She felt the cool hardness of his hand, the flexing of fine bones in his wrist, and a quick animation lit her face. She found herself looking at him with a new awareness, an eagerness to know more about this man whom she considered primarily a friend of Eric and Maggie's.

She was familiar enough with his looks; lean, tanned, good chin, flat-planed cheeks. But a description of Scott's looks left everything of the man out, and was, indeed, paradoxical. His smile, for instance. Lazy, suggestive of untroubled thoughts. But Landon had seen him at white-hot intensity over controversial subjects; she had felt the spirit of intellectual adventure and inquiry which vitalized his work. It was a charming smile, but it didn't suggest the quality of Scott's forceful personality. Landon always had a compulsion when she was with him to put her best foot forward. She didn't know that it was because Scott Wylie, by always believing the best of people, drew the best out of them.

"You haven't told me any of the things that happened to you while you were in New York," he said.

There was little of the New York episode worth recounting—especially to Scott, whose business was fitting round people into round holes and getting the right person into the right job at the right time.

"I was pretty ineffectual. A failure, I suppose."

"Nothing shameful in that," he said. "A big percentage of humanity is. Just don't start making excuses for it, that's all."

"Surely, though, in two years it should have been possible to make myself count for more?"

"How hard did you try?" he countered.

She admitted wrily, "Not very hard."

"Maybe you wanted the wrong thing," he said. "Wrong for you."

"How do you tell—with the Rorschach test?"

He laughed.

She said, "I thought I'd set the editorial world on fire and I thought it'd be easy. Honors in college journalism." She made a droll face at herself. "I was a piece of office equipment. Do you think it could be that I'm just plain lazy?"

"Today, for instance?" he asked her with a smile in his voice.

"Oh, but that's different." She lifted her face, grave and lovely. "There's some point to what I am doing now. Besides, it's for Maggie."

"Something worthwhile, for love . . . There's your answer, I guess."

The quiet timber of his voice struck deep into her. She thought: In time of trouble Scott would be a resource. She looked at him, but his face was blurring into the shadows, so she just sat quietly, without moving, without talking. When she could no longer see, and the silence was growing awkward, she said laughingly, "Are you still there?"

"I'm still here," he said beside her.

Again the quality of his voice touched her. It was almost as if he had said, I'll always be here. He hadn't said it, of course. It was only part of the night's wraithy murmurings. But it was curiously comforting.

WITH THE BRITISH Toriess taking their continuing tenure on a national election May 26, it is noteworthy that the government cut taxes for every citizen old enough to cast a ballot. The reduction averages five per cent.

The structure of the British government and its elections vary with those of the United States, but this action by Prime Minister Eden's administration identifies the science of politics as unvarying in the free countries. In the year ended last month the British budget showed a surplus of $1.3 billion. It is estimated that, after the tax cut, there will be a surplus this year of more than $500 million.

So the Tory governmen could have reduced taxes at any time in the last year without unbalancing the budget. But it held back until the time when the cut would be fresh in the minds of poll-going voters.

The reduction will stimulate industry and employment by increasing consumer purchasing power. But if anyone thinks economic policy can be separated from politics, he has only to look at the staid old British Conservatives who want to win the election so badly that they will overlook no political bets, demagogic or otherwise.

UPTURN CONTINUES

AMERICAN automobile manufacturers, who staked hundreds of millions of dollars in their faith in resurgence of American business, have seen their bold stroke succeed in the first six weeks of the new year. Production is continuing at record levels, and retail sales are such that only a normal backlog of new cars is being built up to meet the usual spring demand.

It has been said that a new car is as indispensable to those who can afford it as Mrs. America's new hat. Of those who looked over the situation in the automobile industry last year and saw only gloom, many are ready to agree now that the automobile is a key to the American economy. Record auto production, and near-record sales, reflect the confidence of the public in the economic future.

These Days

One of the most exciting cases to come before any court is that of Michael A. Musmanno, Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, v. Laurence H. Eldredge, official State Reporter. Involved is the refusal of the court reporter to publish the dissenting opinion of Justice Musanno in a case concerning the right of press photographers to take pcitures of a trial.

The majority of the Court upheld a lower Court's decision rejecting the photographer's demand that the sheriff's order be vacated; Justice Musmanno wrote a learned dissent which the majority sought to supress. Why the majority took such a view is not clear from the pleading except the statement:

"The Court as a whole should have discretionary power to decide in a given case that the publication of a particular dissenting opinion would be contrary to public policy."

Even if a court possessed such powers, it is not understandable from the record that any matter of public policy is involved in this case or that any very startling public issue was originally brought forward. The term "public policy" can cover a world of sins. This case may go to the Supreme Court of the United States on such fundamental issues as freedom of speech and the administration of our courts.

In his dissenting opinion, Justice Musanno said:

"To those who argue in the case at bar that freedom of the press is not restricted to freedom of printing. A printing press without material to print would be as useless as a vineyard without grapes, a flour mill without wheat, or an orchard without trees. Freedom of the press means to gather news, write, it, print it and circulate it.

"If any one of these operations is inhibited, freedom of the press becomes an empty phrase. Gathering of news includes photographing of the news, printing of photographs and reproduction of photographs in the finished newspaper. To prohibit the taking of photographs is no less an infringement of the freedom of the press than to prohibit the presence of a news reporter. . . ."

Surely nothing of public policy or the impairment of the dignity of the Court is stated in this dissent, unless questioning a judge's conduct, be he drunk or bull-headed, is, of itself, contemptuous. Musmanno states the case of the newspaper and particularly the photographer-reporter better than I have seen it elsewhere:

". . .In the story of every crime, every accident, every untoward happening goes the unspoken preachment that the reader could be the fateful and unfortunate reci-

A draftee turned up on sick call one morning and heard two hard-ended veterans discussing the doctor in charge. "He doesn't kid around," asserted one. "Fellow came in saying he had ptomaine poisoning so the doc cut off his big toe." "Yeah," agreed the second, "and remember the guy with erysipelas? The doctor just sliced away his left ear."

By this time the draftee had turned a sickly green. "Let me out of here," he begged. "I've got asthma!"

The patient in Room 726 was apoplectic with rage when the doctor stopped in on his morning round. "That idiot nurse that came on at 8 p. m." he roared, "plugged my electric blanket by mistake into the automatic toaster on my night table—and every four minutes I'm kept popping out of bed!"

"It isn't exactly a brand-new farmhouse,,' admitted the real estate agent reluctantly. "Just four rooms and path."

TAKE MY PLACE — By FRANCES SARAH MOORE

SYNOPSIS

Landon McCrae is on her way from her job in New York to the town of Windermere in Canada, where her happily married sister, Maggie Scarffe, is ill. A "spot" on Maggie's lung will send her from home for protracted treatment and in her absence, Landon will take over the household, comprising Maggie's husband, Eric, a teacher, her small daughter Merry-o and "Gran," Scott Wylie, bachelor and old beau of Landon, is delighted at the prospect of her return to Windermere. And she does return, to find her beloved Maggie wan and spent, yet courageous. But like the rest of the family, Landon manages a brave front until after Maggie leaves them.

CHAPTER FIVE

THROUGH a heat wave which left them all enervated, Eric drove himself so hard. Nightly intensive research, after a day of lectures and the drive to Breck and back, took off 10 pounds of flesh in no time and left him with not enough weight for his height. He began to wear thin around the eyes and mouth. Landon watched him, one evening, pushing his arms into his jacket sleeves. His bony wrists shot out from the cuffs as terribly young and vulnerable as Merry-o's. Landon felt a rush of tenderness for him, a stir of compassion, an urge to go to him and offer comfort. But she thrust it away. There was nothing she could say or do. One woman in all the world could take away his weariness and loneliness. It was not Landon McCrae.

After dinner one evening, with Eric at the sanatorium and Merry-o in bed, Landon sat alone on the terrace. Through the big picture window she could see Rowena under a 300-watt bulb, sewing new knees into a pair of dungarees. Rowena had refused to sit outside where the air was cooler. "If there's one mosquito in town, it always finds me," she said.

Omar arched himself against Landon's leg, his fur crackling at her absent-minded touch. The night hummed mysteriously. Landon found herself remembering the different hum of Manhattan nights, the feverish heat, people coming and going like jets, playing as fast and hard as they worked.

This was better. The scent of dark grass, the same old friends, casual days, your own home, security—as much as the world could offer.

Undoubtedly the chief drawback to Landon's becoming seriously involved with any of the men she had known in New York was the prototype of Maggie's life subconsciously in her mind. For, after the first homesick months in an alien room, there had been men—some with matrimonial ideas. Some of the men had frankly enjoyed bouncing their sharp wit and subtle innuendoes against the absoluteness of her youth and idealism. Landon liked them all. It was flattering being asked to listen to, and sometimes share, their fine bright dreams. Flattering, until her gradual and saddening realization that what they often talked about was only the small and very ordinary pieces that their dreams had broken up into. The glamour began flaking off like old paint. Landon began finding herself bored, and she would ache with longing for Windermere and people like Eric and Maggie and Scott Wylie.

Scarcely ruffling the random serenity of their flow, Scott slid into her thoughts. He lived only three streets away and at this hour, dusk thickening to dark, he often strolled over. Sometimes he'd take her for a drive along the highway with the car top down and the wind hard-pelting at their faces. Occasionally they went swimming, the water and the sky an exact pearly opalescence so you couldn't tell where one ended and the other began. They'd sit on the sand and smoke cigarets and talk, and she felt as easy and relaxed and companionable with Scott as with Eric. Like one of the family, she thought. But the trite analogy flitting through her mind gave her a faint sense of impatience.

Footsteps turned in at the walk.

Scott crossed the lawn and dropped down beside her. "Don't move. You look so restful."

"I was thinking about you."

"You were?" He took her hand. "That's fine."

She felt the cool hardness of his hand, the flexing of fine bones in his wrist, and a quick animation lit her face. She found herself looking at him with a new awareness, an eagerness to know more about this man whom she considered primarily a friend of Eric and Maggie's.

She was familiar enough with his looks; lean, tanned, good chin, flat-planed cheeks. But a description of Scott's looks left everything of the man out, and was, indeed, paradoxical. His smile, for instance. Lazy, suggestive of untroubled thoughts. But Landon had seen him at white-hot intensity over controversial subjects; she had felt the spirit of intellectual adventure and inquiry which vitalized his work. It was a charming smile, but it didn't suggest the quality of Scott's forceful personality. Landon always had a compulsion when she was with him to put her best foot forward. She didn't know that it was because Scott Wylie, by always believing the best of people, drew the best out of them.

"You haven't told me any of the things that happened to you while you were in New York," he said.

There was little of the New York episode worth recounting—especially to Scott, whose business was fitting round people into round holes and getting the right person into the right job at the right time.

"I was pretty ineffectual. A failure, I suppose."

"Nothing shameful in that," he said. "A big percentage of humanity is. Just don't start making excuses for it, that's all."

"Surely, though, in two years it should have been possible to make myself count for more?"

"How hard did you try?" he countered.

She admitted wrily, "Not very hard."

"Maybe you wanted the wrong thing," he said. "Wrong for you."

"How do you tell—with the Rorschach test?"

He laughed.

She said, "I thought I'd set the editorial world on fire and I thought it'd be easy. Honors in college journalism." She made a droll face at herself. "I was a piece of office equipment. Do you think it could be that I'm just plain lazy?"

"Today, for instance?" he asked her with a smile in his voice.

"Oh, but that's different." She lifted her face, grave and lovely. "There's some point to what I am doing now. Besides, it's for Maggie."

"Something worthwhile, for love . . . There's your answer, I guess."

The quiet timber of his voice struck deep into her. She thought: In time of trouble Scott would be a resource. She looked at him, but his face was blurring into the shadows, so she just sat quietly, without moving, without talking. When she could no longer see, and the silence was growing awkward, she said laughingly, "Are you still there?"

"I'm still here," he said beside her.

Again the quality of his voice touched her. It was almost as if he had said, I'll always be here. He hadn't said it, of course. It was only part of the night's wraithy murmurings. But it was curiously comforting.

Spring Court Of Awards Is Held By County Girl Scouts

'Sunny' Rinehart Is Guest Speaker

Mrs. Foster (Sunny) Rinehart of Chillicothe was guest speaker when the Girl Scouts of Circleville and Pickaway County held their Spring Court of Awards Wednesday evening in the Trinity Lutheran parish house.

Troop 21, led by Mrs. L. P. McBrearty and Mrs. James Grant, conducted the opening flag ceremony. Mrs. Walter Heine, Girl Scout commissioner, gave the welcoming address to the scouts, parents and friends assembled for the occasion.

Mrs. Heine urged the girls to remember that a badge is a symbol that the scout has faith in herself and knows she is proficient in a particular field. She urged the scouts to use their skill and knowledge in serving others, rather than to wear the badge only as an ornament.

Miss Doris Schreiner, program chairman for the local organization, presented the rank and proficiency badges to the girls. In a brief address to the scouts, she explained the difference between a rank badge and a proficiency badge.

Miss Schriener listed the 11 fields which are available to scouts. She stated that second class rank is acquired following a completion of an activity in each of these fields, giving a general knowledge of the possible achievements in scouting.

The speaker urged her audience to remember the words of Juliette Low, who stated, "A badge is not a medal to be worn on your sleeve, but it shows you are prepared and willing to be of service in a certain field." She closed her address by stating that a First Class Scout is a first class person.

Mrs. Rinehart addressed the group on the laws of scouting, urging the girls to remember and use them in their daily lives. She also spoke on the Summer Day Camp, which she is to direct at the Girl Scout lodge. A song fest of well-loved and new Girl Scout songs was led by Mrs. Rinehart. Mrs. Ervin Leist accompanied the group at the piano.

Highlight of the program was a one-act play, presented by Troop 22, led by Mrs. Eleanor Dawson and Mrs. Lee Smith. The play, depicting a typical garden club meeting, included the following cast:

Ellen Blue, Mary Lou Lake, Sarah Best, Alice Dawson, Sally Lutz, Sylvia Smith, Anna May Styers, Linda Wardell and Marsha Wharton.

First Class Rank badges in the nature field were awarded to: Sue Barnes, Rita Jane Binkley, Linda Cook, Rita Cook, Jean Edgington, Phyllis McCoard, Cathy McKenzie, Darlene Metzler, Patricia Moats, Sally Montgomery, Deena Musselman, Barbara Sieverts and Joan Vaughn, all of Troop 15.

Sarah Best, Sally Lutz, Sylvia Smith, Anna May Styers, and Linda Wardell received First Class badges in homemaking, while Marsha Wharton and Alice Dawson received First Class badges and with both nature and homemaking as their major fields. These girls are members of Troop 22.

Troop 11 members, Sheila Bass, Shirley Bennet, Mildred Byrd, Elsie Harriston, Mary Ann Johnson and Mary Lou Lewis received their First Class badges with homemaking majors, while Irma Fletcher majored in sports and games.

Phyllis Dewey and Norma Jean Anderson of Troop 19 received First Class rank with arts and crafts as their major field.

A list fo other badges received during the Court of Awards will be carried in a later edition of The Circleville Herald.

Spring Court Of Awards Is Held By County Girl Scouts

'Sunny' Rinehart Is Guest Speaker

Mrs. Foster (Sunny) Rinehart of Chillicothe was guest speaker when the Girl Scouts of Circleville and Pickaway County held their Spring Court of Awards Wednesday evening in the Trinity Lutheran parish house.

Troop 21, led by Mrs. L. P. McBrearty and Mrs. James Grant, conducted the opening flag ceremony. Mrs. Walter Heine, Girl Scout commissioner, gave the welcoming address to the scouts, parents and friends assembled for the occasion.

Mrs. Heine urged the girls to remember that a badge is a symbol that the scout has faith in herself and knows she is proficient in a particular field. She urged the scouts to use their skill and knowledge in serving others, rather than to wear the badge only as an ornament.

Miss Doris Schreiner, program chairman for the local organization, presented the rank and proficiency badges to the girls. In a brief address to the scouts, she explained the difference between a rank badge and a proficiency badge.

Miss Schriener listed the 11 fields which are available to scouts. She stated that second class rank is acquired following a completion of an activity in each of these fields, giving a general knowledge of the possible achievements in scouting.

The speaker urged her audience to remember the words of Juliette Low, who stated, "A badge is not a medal to be worn on your sleeve, but it shows you are prepared and willing to be of service in a certain field." She closed her address by stating that a First Class Scout is a first class person.

Mrs. Rinehart addressed the group on the laws of scouting, urging the girls to remember and use them in their daily lives. She also spoke on the Summer Day Camp, which she is to direct at the Girl Scout lodge. A song fest of well-loved and new Girl Scout songs was led by Mrs. Rinehart. Mrs. Ervin Leist accompanied the group at the piano.

Highlight of the program was a one-act play, presented by Troop 22, led by Mrs. Eleanor Dawson and Mrs. Lee Smith. The play, depicting a typical garden club meeting, included the following cast:

Ellen Blue, Mary Lou Lake, Sarah Best, Alice Dawson, Sally Lutz, Sylvia Smith, Anna May Styers, Linda Wardell and Marsha Wharton.

First Class Rank badges in the nature field were awarded to: Sue Barnes, Rita Jane Binkley, Linda Cook, Rita Cook, Jean Edgington, Phyllis McCoard, Cathy McKenzie, Darlene Metzler, Patricia Moats, Sally Montgomery, Deena Musselman, Barbara Sieverts and Joan Vaughn, all of Troop 15.

Sarah Best, Sally Lutz, Sylvia Smith, Anna May Styers, and Linda Wardell received First Class badges in homemaking, while Marsha Wharton and Alice Dawson received First Class badges and with both nature and homemaking as their major fields. These girls are members of Troop 22.

Troop 11 members, Sheila Bass, Shirley Bennet, Mildred Byrd, Elsie Harriston, Mary Ann Johnson and Mary Lou Lewis received their First Class badges with homemaking majors, while Irma Fletcher majored in sports and games.

Phyllis Dewey and Norma Jean Anderson of Troop 19 received First Class rank with arts and crafts as their major field.

A list fo other badges received during the Court of Awards will be carried in a later edition of The Circleville Herald.

WASHINGTON (AP)—What will the United States position be if Red China plays nice, maybe agrees to a cease-fire around Formosa, and then wants to get into the United Nations?

American opposition to U. N. membership for them might change.

One stumbling block to Red China's admittance—although not necessarily the final one—would be removed if the veto power of the Security Council on new members was ended.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., American ambassador to the U. N., this week suggested dropping the veto power on new members held by the Big Five powers on the Security Council—the United States, Russia, Britain, France, Nationalist China.

Under the present U. N. Charter, admittance of a new member hinges around what happens in the Security Council.

Seven of the 11 members—including all the Big Five—must vote yes. A veto by any of the Big Five can block a nation from membership.

Under Lodge's proposal, eliminating the veto, neither the United States nor Nationalist China could keep out Red China if any seven of the remaining Security Council members voted yes.

It's possible that, with removal of the veto, Red China still couldn't get seven votes that would let her in. Russia has proposed U. N. membership for Red China several times, but there were never seven votes for admittance, making a veto unnecessary.

Russia has used the veto to block membership for 14 other non-Communist nations.

Lodge made it plain, in testimony to a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee, that he was speaking as an individual and was not expressing the views of the Eisenhower administration.

Up to this time the State Department hasn't taken a position on changes in the charter. Its attitude seems to be now let's go carefully about this sort of thing. It may be waiting, before taking a stand, to find out what American public opinion is.

So, although Lodge said he was speaking for himself, his views can serve as a trial balloon.

Realtor Convicted On 'Blue Sky' Law

CLEVELAND (AP) — A jury has convicted a Cleveland Heights real estate broker but acquitted his wife on charges of violating the "blue sky" laws by selling unregistered securities without a license.

Sam Hirsch, 45, was found guilty on four counts. His 42-year-old wife, Bess, was found innocent.

Hirsch faces a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison and $20,000 fine.

The "blue sky" laws seek to protect investors in securities. The laws were so named from a legislator's remark that some companies sought to "capitalize the blue skies."

U.S. Revenue Experts Study New Tax Forms For 1956

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Revenue Service is considering a number of plans for new tax forms next year, but it is all in the thinking and planning stage right now.

Just one thing has been firmly decided—no more color stripes, like this year's, on mailed tax forms identifying over $10,000 and under $10,000 incomes.

Two other changes, however, are pretty sure to be made:

Some shorter basic taxpayer's form will probably emerge, perhaps having just two pages.

The $5,000 ceiling on the use of "Short Form 1040" will probably be lifted to somewhere around $8,000 or $10,000.

This year, the Internal Revenue Service had only two months after the revised 1954 tax code was signed by President Eisenhower in mid-August to revise nearly 500 income tax forms, and write instructions for their use.

Printing tax forms and instruction pamphlets each year is the world's single biggest printing job.

The Revenue Service is thinking in terms of getting up a new basic tax form which would serve the needs of the majority of people who do not have the special kinds of income that now complicate the form—retirement pay, dividends, rents, interest, capital gains, and so on.

One presently developed plan contemplates a two-page affair consisting of about what is now on Pages 1 and 3 of Form 1040. A study of past returns turned up the finding that about 60 per cent of some 47 million taxpayers who use Form 1040 showed virtually no income aside from salaries and wages.

These 28 million personal income taxpayers, in other words, had no need for the other two pages now in the basic form, for reporting other income.

The abbreviated form would continue to allow taxpayers to accept the standard deduction for personal expenses or to itemize their deductions, as they wish.

The present check-size punchcard form for the use of taxpayers having less than $5,000 total income which is virtually all wages and salary and who want the revenue service to figure out their tax for them, would be continued. There are an estimated 11 million taxpayers in this group.

Also, under this plan, a separate "other income" schedule would be included in the package with the new two-page form. This would get these complications out of the basic form but would keep a form for handling them easily available to taxpayers who need it. Others would just throw it away.

At present, only taxpayers with less than $5,000 adjusted gross income (total income less business-connected expenses) are allowed to find their tax in a table printed in the instructions pamphlet. This ceiling was put on in 1943, and the Revenue Service feels that persons with incomes of $8,000 — perhaps up to $10,000— should now be given the advantage of this simplification.

pient of the punishment, injury or sorrow depicted it the reader had succumbed to the same temptation, or had allowed himself to be drawn into the same web of circumstances related in the columns which now engross his attention.

To the extent that the newspaper is denied the opportunity to present all the facts — photographic or otherwise — to that extent the reader is denied the opportunity to be forewarned on the evil, as well as fortuitous forces bent on wreaking havoc and destruction."

The argument was raised that the photographers were only told not to take pictures; they were not arrested. The dissenting judge wanted to know whether citizens had to violate the law to discover what their rights are.

Musmanno asks:

"In order to get the 'actual application', which this Court mentions, were these three photographers compelled to take pictures despite the fact that the Sheriff was standing by with admonitory guards and threatening deputies? Suppose in this attempt a scuffle ensued and cameras were broken. Suppose that Sheriff Thomas, in the application of the court rule, seized the offending photographers and threw them into jail. Does this Court need that kind of a distressful circumstance as a basis for passing upon the constitutional rights of three citizens of the United States?. ."

This case affects freedom of the press more than it does the right of Justice Musmanno to have his dissenting opinion published along with the majority opinion. What matters here is that a gagrule is being applied; the attempt is made to withhold the truth from the people; and that a fighting judge is risking the good-will of his colleagues to fight for American rights and privileges under the Constitution.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Feel like having fried chicken again? Reports from food stores over the nation indicate that it continues to hold a prominent place on the list of good buys for weekend shoppers.

Not as many stores will be featuring frying chickens this week as a week ago, but prices generally will be the same or a trifle lower. Meat men consider them a fine buy.

If you're looking for something else for Sunday dinner, however, you'll find the choice is wide. A number of markets, with an eye to Mother's Day this Sunday, will be offering small turkeys and smoked hams at lower prices. There'll be a good number of specials on prime ribs and legs of lamb, too.

There won't be many weekend specials on pork items. That meat went up at wholesale during the week and in some stores the price of pork chops is being increased by a dime or more a pound.

Eggs continue to be a good buy. One chain is lowering prices by a penny or two a dozen in some of its markets.

The Department of Agriculture sees a small increase in the next few months in the general level of retail food prices. It says recent freeze and wind damage to fruits and vengetables and strong consumer demand will be major factors in the rise.

The department says there may be increases in prices of fresh and processed vegetables, eggs, pork and som cuts of beef. It adds, however, that consumers can look for lower prices for fresh vegetables, potatoes and fresh fruits by midsummer, when normal supplies become available.

And the outlook is not strictly for higher prices: Dairy products, poultry and fish are expected to come down in the months just ahead.

As of right now, you can pick up lots of worthwhile buys in vegetables. The best value this week may be found in spinach, iceberg lettuce, and nearby vegetables, including radishes, green onions, leeks, kale and parsley.

Old crop potatoes are a good buy. New crop spuds haven't come to market in big volume yet, but supplies are increasing and prices are a little lower than last week. Corn supplies are heavier, and the price has come down. There are plenty of onions in all shapes and sizes at reasonable prices.

Produce men also recommend cabbage, beans, carrots, beets, endive, escarole, celery, peppers and yellow green squash.

Oranges and grapefruit still are rated among the better buys in fruit, although prices advanced a bit this week. Apples also are on the good buy list.

The Revenue Service is thinking in terms of getting up a new basic tax form which would serve the needs of the majority of people who do not have the special kinds of income that now complicate the form—retirement pay, dividends, rents, interest, capital gains, and so on.

One presently developed plan contemplates a two-page affair consisting of about what is now on Pages 1 and 3 of Form 1040. A study of past returns turned up the finding that about 60 per cent of some 47 million taxpayers who use Form 1040 showed virtually no income aside from salaries and wages.

These 28 million personal income taxpayers, in other words, had no need for the other two pages now in the basic form, for reporting other income.

The abbreviated form would continue to allow taxpayers to accept the standard deduction for personal expenses or to itemize their deductions, as they wish.

The present check-size punch-card form for the use of taxpayers having less than $5,000 total income which is virtually all wages and salary and who want the revenue service to figure out their tax for them, would be continued. There are an estimated 11 million taxpayers in this group.

Also, under this plan, a separate "other income" schedule would be included in the package with the new two-page form. This would get these complications out of the basic form but would keep a form for handling them easily available to taxpayers who need it. Others would just throw it away.

At present, only taxpayers with less than $5,000 adjusted gross income (total income less business-connected expenses) are allowed to find their tax in a table printed in the instructions pamphlet. This ceiling was put on in 1943, and the Revenue Service feels that persons with incomes of $8,000 — perhaps up to $10,000— should now be given the advantage of this simplification.

These Days

pient of the punishment, injury or sorrow depicted it the reader had succumbed to the same temptation, or had allowed himself to be drawn into the same web of circumstances related in the columns which now engross his attention.

To the extent that the newspaper is denied the opportunity to present all the facts — photographic or otherwise — to that extent the reader is denied the opportunity to be forewarned on the evil, as well as fortuitous forces bent on wreaking havoc and destruction."

The argument was raised that the photographers were only told not to take pictures; they were not arrested. The dissenting judge wanted to know whether citizens had to violate the law to discover what their rights are.

Musmanno asks:

"In order to get the 'actual application', which this Court mentions, were these three photographers compelled to take pictures despite the fact that the Sheriff was standing by with admonitory guards and threatening deputies? Suppose in this attempt a scuffle ensued and cameras were broken. Suppose that Sheriff Thomas, in the application of the court rule, seized the offending photographers and threw them into jail. Does this Court need that kind of a distressful circumstance as a basis for passing upon the constitutional rights of three citizens of the United States?. ."

This case affects freedom of the press more than it does the right of Justice Musmanno to have his dissenting opinion published along with the majority opinion. What matters here is that a gagrule is being applied; the attempt is made to withhold the truth from the people; and that a fighting judge is risking the good-will of his colleagues to fight for American rights and privileges under the Constitution.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Feel like having fried chicken again? Reports from food stores over the nation indicate that it continues to hold a prominent place on the list of good buys for weekend shoppers.

Not as many stores will be featuring frying chickens this week as a week ago, but prices generally will be the same or a trifle lower. Meat men consider them a fine buy.

If you're looking for something else for Sunday dinner, however, you'll find the choice is wide. A number of markets, with an eye to Mother's Day this Sunday, will be offering small turkeys and smoked hams at lower prices. There'll be a good number of specials on prime ribs and legs of lamb, too.

There won't be many weekend specials on pork items. That meat went up at wholesale during the week and in some stores the price of pork chops is being increased by a dime or more a pound.

Eggs continue to be a good buy. One chain is lowering prices by a penny or two a dozen in some of its markets.

The Department of Agriculture sees a small increase in the next few months in the general level of retail food prices. It says recent freeze and wind damage to fruits and vengetables and strong consumer demand will be major factors in the rise.

The department says there may be increases in prices of fresh and processed vegetables, eggs, pork and som cuts of beef. It adds, however, that consumers can look for lower prices for fresh vegetables, potatoes and fresh fruits by midsummer, when normal supplies become available.

And the outlook is not strictly for higher prices: Dairy products, poultry and fish are expected to come down in the months just ahead.

As of right now, you can pick up lots of worthwhile buys in vegetables. The best value this week may be found in spinach, iceberg lettuce, and nearby vegetables, including radishes, green onions, leeks, kale and parsley.

Old crop potatoes are a good buy. New crop spuds haven't come to market in big volume yet, but supplies are increasing and prices are a little lower than last week. Corn supplies are heavier, and the price has come down. There are plenty of onions in all shapes and sizes at reasonable prices.

Produce men also recommend cabbage, beans, carrots, beets, endive, escarole, celery, peppers and yellow green squash.

Oranges and grapefruit still are rated among the better buys in fruit, although prices advanced a bit this week. Apples also are on the good buy list.

AFL-CIO Merger's Meaning

John L. Lewis Now Stands As Silent Man Of Mystery

Editor's Note: Following is the fourth in a series of five articles on the merger of AFL and CIO unions and what it may mean to the nation.

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Lewis is the mystery man of American labor today, standing on the sidelines while the AFL and CIO push forward with plans to merge their 15 million members into one giant federation.

The shaggy-browed chief of the United Mine Workers of America remains uncommitted and enigmatic. He declines to give a hint as to whether he will eventually make peace with the AFL-CIO chiefs and give organized labor virtually a solid front in pushing for expansion and political power.

But there are signs aplenty he doesn't intend to at least not right now.

The best hint as to Lewis' thinking comes from his old friend and long-time lieutenant Thomas Kennedy, UMWA vice president, whose statements usually can be taken as an accurate reflection of Lewis' own views.

Kennedy said in reply to a list of questions that organized labor could boost its present membership of 16 million (this includes the AFL, CIO and independents) to more than 26 million members under certain conditions.

Then he added: "These conditions would include, first, a unified labor movement with a militant leadership that is capable of standing up for labor's rights and with the ability to see beyond the end of a Stillson wrench."

The implication is inescapable that Kennedy doesn't think that kind of leadership will be present in George Meany, AFL president who will head the merger and, with whom Lewis has been at odds for years.

Kennedy had "no comment" when asked if he could foresee a time when the miners would join the merger and under what conditions such a move might be made.

Kennedy indicated that Lewis and the UMWA believe the AFL and CIO are moving too deeply into politics before consolidating their strength by or organizing drive.

On this score, Kennedy said: "The American labor movement is now and always has been essentially an economic movement in contrast to the European labor movement, which has been basically a political movement.

"The UMWA foresees the greatest advances for labor to be gained through organizing the unorganized. It would appear obvious that as long as there are approximately 60 million Americans in the work force and only 16 million of them belong to unions, that organized labor still has a tremendous job of organizing to do.

"It stands to reason that political action is not the No. 1 job of organized labor but is secondary to the basic job of organizing the unorganized. Votes are what count in political action, and unless labor is able to convince the politicians that it can deliver the votes, the politicians are not going to pay much attention to the leadership of labor when that leadership proposes legislation of a favorable nature."

Kennedy thinks labor's greatest achievement in the past 20 years was the organization of the basic mass production industries such as steel, automobiles, electric manufacturing, etc.—and Lewis' success in winning the first industrywide welfare and retirement fund for his miners.

What, then, has been labor's greatest failure?

Kennedy said: "The greatest failure has been the failure to spread organization into unorganized fields, particularly in the southern states. This has been partly due to the lack of unity in the labor movement and partly due to restrictive legislation."

Where will John L. Lewis go? No man can say except Lewis, whose shaggy eyebrows are growing gray with age. But at 71, he remains a labor power and there never can be a truly united labor front without him.

Tomorrow: How business feels about the merger.

Most Youths Due For Military Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — A defense official told the U.S. Chamber of Commerce yesterday that even after planned cuts in the armed services "virtually every physically and mentally fit young man may look forward to a term of military service sometime between the ages of 18 and 26." Robert Anderson, deputy secretary of defense, said national defense will also continue to absorb about a tenth of the nation's hard goods.

Rifle Slug Kills Lad; Hooky-Player Held By Police

DALLAS (AP) — Tommy Rendon Jr., 9, was walking home from school in an area of West Dallas where outlaws roamed in other generations.

A rifle bullet kicked up dust in front of little Tommy.

A second shot sent him pitching backward. Doctors said he died with a slug through his heart.

Officers found a 12-year-old truant with a rifle. At the police station he said he played hooky from school and watched a television show. Tiring of the TV, he searched out a rifle he had been forbidden to touch and loaded it.

He saw Tommy, whom he didn't know, walking across a nearby field. He said he decided to frighten the younger boy by firing as close to him as possible. He said he didn't intend to hit him.

Police turned him over to juvenile authorities. Tommy's funeral was held yesterday.

No Harm Seen In Poverty --By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The parents of what is believed to be the nation's largest all - boy family don't see why poverty should cause juvenile delinquency.

Emory and Thelma Harrison, a farm couple who live near Johnson City, Tenn., have 13 sons ranging in stepladder style down from 21-year-old Guy to Ivan, an infant of 3 weeks.

Money poor all his life, Harrison said his children "Never caused us a speck of trouble," and explained why:

"It's the way we raised them. We raised them to obey us, never to bother anybody, and never to pick up anything that belonged to anybody else.

"If they need a spanking, they get it. But they don't need it often. Each has his chores—one feeds the hogs corn, one feeds them slop, one does the milking. Some dry the dishes, some cut wood, some carry it in.

"They all help each other. The big boys are just as crazy about the new baby as my wife and me are.

"There never was a child born but what there was a bite made to fill its mouth with, but there have been fathers and mothers too trifling to fill a child's mouth.

"When we had one child we just lived. When we had six children we lived. Now we got 13—and we're still living."

Mrs. Harrison was named "Honor Mother of the Year" by the Interfaith Movement in recognition of "her exemplary life as wife, mother and neighbor." A clothing firm paid the expenses of the entire family here so they could see her get the award.

During a four-day stay the boys won a $3,200 jackpot in cash and prizes on a radio show, but the wonders of Manhattan palled quickly and left the whole family homesick.

"It's corn plantin' time," explained Harrison.

The tall, rawboned farmer, who had to quit school after the fourth grade to go to work, is a man of natural dignity with a rich vein of homespun humor.

Having a large family came naturally to the Harrisons. His wife is one of 16 children. His grandfather had 27 children, 3 wives, rode a red mule to church every Sunday until he was 85, and died triumphant at 93, still praising the Lord for a good life.

"And he raised all 27 children on a 70-acre farm," said Harrison.

"I courted for a year before I got married when I was 23," he added. "I'll never forget that day. I didn't have anything at all, only a woman" (Mrs. Harrison glanced up with a shy smile) "and maybe 75 cents in my pocket. I earned only $2 the first week we were married."

After years of struggling labor during which he sometimes had to go out after his day's work and cut wood to trade it for groceries, Harrison was able with the help of a friend to buy a 72-acre hill farm.

The farm has 2 horses, 3 cows, 225 chickens, 6 or 8 hogs, a large vegetable garden. The cash crops are wheat, corn and tobacco.

"We don't spend more than $13 to $14 a week for food," Harrison said. "We raise the rest.

"I don't believe our medical bills have been more than $50 all told since we were married, not counting the cost of getting the boys born.

"If they get a cold I just mix up some hog lard, turpentine and kerosene, rub it on their chest, then turn 'em off barefooted. We don't pay no attention to 'em not wearing shoes."

One Tuesday last October a fire destroyed their home. For the first time in his life Harrison felt completely down at heart. But the next Sunday the congregations of 12 nearby churches pitched in with money, materials and labor and built the family a larger, better home.

"I think I know now what faith and friendship come to," said Harrison. "I've known a right smart of trouble, but I've had a happy life.

"But the children—they're the biggest enjoyment we've got in this world. It would be lonesome without any one of our children. We'd miss him."

Mrs. Harrison nodded quietly. Harrison said he hoped to use the cash money the family won here to give his boys as much schooling as possible.

"If I give them an education I know it's the one thing nobody'll be able to take away from them later on," he said. "It'll help 'em go farther than their daddy."

Attention Is Called To Clean-Up Week

Spring Clean-Up Week is a good time to eliminate fire hazards throughout the home, according to Fire Chief Talmer Wise.

Getting rid of things stored away in attics and basements is the main goal. Checking electrical wiring is a good way to prevent future fires, Chief Wise remarked.

Besides the safety angle, Clean-Up Week will perk up the appearance of the home, he added.

No Harm Seen In Poverty --By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The parents of what is believed to be the nation's largest all - boy family don't see why poverty should cause juvenile delinquency.

Emory and Thelma Harrison, a farm couple who live near Johnson City, Tenn., have 13 sons ranging in stepladder style down from 21-year-old Guy to Ivan, an infant of 3 weeks.

Money poor all his life, Harrison said his children "Never caused us a speck of trouble," and explained why:

"It's the way we raised them. We raised them to obey us, never to bother anybody, and never to pick up anything that belonged to anybody else.

"If they need a spanking, they get it. But they don't need it often. Each has his chores—one feeds the hogs corn, one feeds them slop, one does the milking. Some dry the dishes, some cut wood, some carry it in.

"They all help each other. The big boys are just as crazy about the new baby as my wife and me are.

"There never was a child born but what there was a bite made to fill its mouth with, but there have been fathers and mothers too trifling to fill a child's mouth.

"When we had one child we just lived. When we had six children we lived. Now we got 13—and we're still living."

Mrs. Harrison was named "Honor Mother of the Year" by the Interfaith Movement in recognition of "her exemplary life as wife, mother and neighbor." A clothing firm paid the expenses of the entire family here so they could see her get the award.

During a four-day stay the boys won a $3,200 jackpot in cash and prizes on a radio show, but the wonders of Manhattan palled quickly and left the whole family homesick.

"It's corn plantin' time," explained Harrison.

The tall, rawboned farmer, who had to quit school after the fourth grade to go to work, is a man of natural dignity with a rich vein of homespun humor.

Having a large family came naturally to the Harrisons. His wife is one of 16 children. His grandfather had 27 children, 3 wives, rode a red mule to church every Sunday until he was 85, and died triumphant at 93, still praising the Lord for a good life.

"And he raised all 27 children on a 70-acre farm," said Harrison.

"I courted for a year before I got married when I was 23," he added. "I'll never forget that day. I didn't have anything at all, only a woman" (Mrs. Harrison glanced up with a shy smile) "and maybe 75 cents in my pocket. I earned only $2 the first week we were married."

After years of struggling labor during which he sometimes had to go out after his day's work and cut wood to trade it for groceries, Harrison was able with the help of a friend to buy a 72-acre hill farm.

The farm has 2 horses, 3 cows, 225 chickens, 6 or 8 hogs, a large vegetable garden. The cash crops are wheat, corn and tobacco.

"We don't spend more than $13 to $14 a week for food," Harrison said. "We raise the rest.

"I don't believe our medical bills have been more than $50 all told since we were married, not counting the cost of getting the boys born.

The fresh pineapple season is at hand. So let's go shopping for this delicious fruit, which will be in peak supply from Cuba and Mexico during May and early June when quality is highest and prices are the lowest of the season.

Pineapples were discovered for the first time when, late in the Fall of 1493, Columbus and his men on their second voyage westward, reached the island of Guadaloupe, as it was to be known henceforth.

Here among the wonders of this island they noted the strange tropical beauty of the pineapple.

The Spanish explorers called the fruit pina becuase of its resemblance to the cone of the pine.

The real foundation of the pineapple industry was laid in 1901 when a young Bostonian, homesteading a 60-acre tract of land near Honolulu, organized a pineapple company and planted 12 acres. Today this company has some 25,000 acres under cultivation.

* * *

Fully ripened pineapples have a luscious aroma that fills the air wherever they are stored. The spines will pull out of a ripe pineapple easily, and the outside of the fruit has a distinctive orange-yellow color.

To compare prices one must know the size of the pineapple. The sizes range from 8 to 18. The number indicates the number of pineapples in a crate. So—the smaller the number, the larger the pineapple.

Since they bruise easily, pineapples should be handled as little as possible. If not fully ripe, let them ripen at room temperature.

Did you know that:

All pineapples have the same number of eyes, so that large pineapples have large eyes and small pineapples, small eyes?

The pineapple is really a multiple fruit, a group of individual fruits which have become fused together?

Fresh pineapple cannot be put in gelatin—it must be boiled and cooled before adding?

* * *

An easy procedure for preparing fresh pineapple slices is:

(1) Cut off the base; (2) twist off the top, and if the pineapple is really ripe much of the core will come with it; (3) cut into slices ¾ to 1 inch in thickness; (4) peel each slice by cutting around the edge about ¼ inch deep; (5) any core may be taken out with a sharp knife, and the remaining slice cut into wedges if desired.

Tempting and convenient to-eat tidbits can be secured by "digging" into the whole fruit around each eye, getting many beautiful wedge-shaped pieces.

Fresh pineapple offers homemakers a most attractive springtime dessert, and one that's easily prepared. This fruit combines well with the many other fruits and vegetables for salads and deserts that will add zest to any meal.

If you are one of those homemakers who likes to "freeze" or "can" your own supply of pineapple for use throughout the year, now is the time to buy in quantity.

Cop Says Women Can Keep Secrets

CLEVELAND (AP) — Says Capt. David Kerr, head of the homicide bureau, women can keep secrets—at least about murders.

Giving a talk yesterday on his experiences, the detective said women involved in murder cases will "talk about everything under the sun, from favorite band leaders to movie stars, but not about their men suspected of crimes."

Pick up the wife or girl friend of a male suspect, he continued, and she'll "flash big blue eyes" and claim she doesn't even know the guy.

Odd thing is, said Kerr, that when you grab a suspect he bitterly blames the girl friend "for talking too much."

Superintendent of City Schools George A. Hartman has announced that registration for grade one will be held at all the elementary schools on May 25.

Parents with children who will be six years old before Nov. 1, 1955, should register their children at the nearest elementary building.

A birth certificate for each child will be necessary at the time of registration. The registrant will not be accepted unless such certificate is in evidence.

Registration for first graders is new for the Circleville schools. It is hoped that much confusion in the first grade at the beginning of the next school year will be eliminated by this procedure.

* * *

REGISTRATION for kindergarten will be held on May 25, 1955, also, but only at the Walnut, Franklin, and Atwater buildings.

In order for a child to enter kindergarten he or she must be five years of age before Sept. 1, 1955. A birth certificate must also accompany a registration for kindergarten.

The real foundation of the pineapple industry was laid in 1901 when a young Bostonian, homesteading a 60-acre tract of land near Honolulu, organized a pineapple company and planted 12 acres. Today this company has some 25,000 acres under cultivation.

* * *

Fully ripened pineapples have a luscious aroma that fills the air wherever they are stored. The spines will pull out of a ripe pineapple easily, and the outside of the fruit has a distinctive orange-yellow color.

To compare prices one must know the size of the pineapple. The sizes range from 8 to 18. The number indicates the number of pineapples in a crate. So—the smaller the number, the larger the pineapple.

Since they bruise easily, pineapples should be handled as little as possible. If not fully ripe, let them ripen at room temperature.

Did you know that:

All pineapples have the same number of eyes, so that large pineapples have large eyes and small pineapples, small eyes?

The pineapple is really a multiple fruit, a group of individual fruits which have become fused together?

Fresh pineapple cannot be put in gelatin—it must be boiled and cooled before adding?

* * *

An easy procedure for preparing fresh pineapple slices is:

(1) Cut off the base; (2) twist off the top, and if the pineapple is really ripe much of the core will come with it; (3) cut into slices ¾ to 1 inch in thickness; (4) peel each slice by cutting around the edge about ¼ inch deep; (5) any core may be taken out with a sharp knife, and the remaining slice cut into wedges if desired.

Tempting and convenient to-eat tidbits can be secured by "digging" into the whole fruit around each eye, getting many beautiful wedge-shaped pieces.

Fresh pineapple offers homemakers a most attractive springtime dessert, and one that's easily prepared. This fruit combines well with the many other fruits and vegetables for salads and deserts that will add zest to any meal.

If you are one of those homemakers who likes to "freeze" or "can" your own supply of pineapple for use throughout the year, now is the time to buy in quantity.

Cop Says Women Can Keep Secrets

CLEVELAND (AP) — Says Capt. David Kerr, head of the homicide bureau, women can keep secrets—at least about murders.

Giving a talk yesterday on his experiences, the detective said women involved in murder cases will "talk about everything under the sun, from favorite band leaders to movie stars, but not about their men suspected of crimes."

Pick up the wife or girl friend of a male suspect, he continued, and she'll "flash big blue eyes" and claim she doesn't even know the guy.

Odd thing is, said Kerr, that when you grab a suspect he bitterly blames the girl friend "for talking too much."

3 Youngsters Die After Circus Trip

URBANA, Ohio (AP)—Two brothers and their sister, riding home from a circus, were killed last night when the car in which they were riding skidded on loose gravel and struck a tree.

Dead were Gerald Eugene Barnhart 7, William, 9, and their sister Vivian Irene, 4.

Another brother, Robret, 2, was in critical condition with head injuries at Mercy Memorial Hospital here.

Their mother Mrs. Glendale Barnhart, 28, who was driving them home, suffered multiple injuries, and was taken to Mercy Hospital at nearby Springfield.

New Officer Joins City Police Force

Circleville's police department added another man to the force Wednesday when William L. Brungs went on duty.

Brungs, who is married and the father of two children, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Brungs, of Amanda Route 1. The elder Mr. Brungs is a farmer.

Brungs, who is 23, passed a recent civil service examination and is the second man hired since then. The other rookie officer, who went on duty a week ago, is Donald Adams.

Registration Set For Tots, First Grade

Superintendent of City Schools George A. Hartman has announced that registration for grade one will be held at all the elementary schools on May 25.

Parents with children who will be six years old before Nov. 1, 1955, should register their children at the nearest elementary building.

A birth certificate for each child will be necessary at the time of registration. The registrant will not be accepted unless such certificate is in evidence.

Registration for first graders is new for the Circleville schools. It is hoped that much confusion in the first grade at the beginning of the next school year will be eliminated by this procedure.

* * *

REGISTRATION for kindergarten will be held on May 25, 1955, also, but only at the Walnut, Franklin, and Atwater buildings.

In order for a child to enter kindergarten he or she must be five years of age before Sept. 1, 1955. A birth certificate must also accompany a registration for kindergarten.

Guard May Receive Land Near Newark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. McGregor (R-Ohio) has introduced a bill in the House calling for transfer of 7.41 acres of ground belonging to the Army at Newark, Ohio, to the Ohio National Guard for training purposes.

In Columbus, an ONG spokesman said the ground, if transferred, would be used for training small units in the Newark area, and possibly, if a rifle range should be installed, by other units of the Ohio Guard. Complete plans for utilization of the ground have not been determined.

Teachers Fly Free

CLEVELAND (AP) — Eastern Air Lines plans to give free airplane rides to 3,000 Cleveland school teachers this month, hoping to stimulate "air-mindedness."

Big 10 Coaches Divided On New Substitution Rule

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten football coaches have formed divided opinion during spring drills on the new rule which permits a player to leave and return to a game once each quarter.

Woody Hayes, whose unbeaten Ohio State Buckeyes last season swept to the Big Ten title, No. 1 national ranking and the Rose Bowl championship, says the new regulation "is a step in the right direction—platooning."

"I would go all the way and favor the return to unlimited substitution, but the new rule will help and we plan to take full advantage of the change," he said in an Association Press survey.

Bennie Oosterbaan of Michigan and Bernie Crimmins of Indiana have different slants on the impact of the rule.

"It won't make too much difference," said Oosterbann, whose Wolverines have been made a prime 1955 totle contender in the spring form chart. "It's not going to change the game very much."

He, and all other coaches, agree injuries may be reduced. Players who are shaken up can be called to the sidlines for checkups before returning to the field.

"It will be a safer and better game," Crimmins insisted. "It will help the caliber of the game by giving the coach a chance to talk to his quarterback and suggest plays which might help the particular situation at hand. The same help can be given to all other players as problems arise."

Forest Evashevski has been experimenting at Iowa with two distince types of offense this spring—the split T and single wing—and feels the new rule will help.

"At this time it appears that we are in no position to 'out-personnel' anyone in the Big Ten," he said. "I doubt if we can win the title with just one type of offense, so we are going to try something better. The new rule probably will help Iowa's two-offense attack. It certainly will permit us to use more kids, and I think this will be to our advantage."

Stu Holcomb of Purdue summed it up this way: "It will make it possible to get more effective use out of strictly offensive players as well as provide needed rest of regulars who may be momentarily exhausted or shaken up."

For 2 Games, Redlegs Show Belated Power

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two games hardly can be called a fair test but there are indications Cincinnati's Redlegs at last are beginning to find the range as far as base hits and runs are concerned.

Until Tuesday night, there had been only two games in which the Reds got more than nine hits.

Then they clubbed 11 safeties in defeating the Philadelphia Phils, 7-5. Last night, they came right back with another 11-hit attack and whipped the Phils even more decisively, 7-3.

Last night's job was done without the services of Ted Kluszewski, but Wally Post stepped in to handle the home run chores. He hit two as the Reds completed a sweep of the two-game series with the Phils.

Kluszewski sat out the game because of an injured ankle suffered in Tuesday night's game. He is expected to be back in action tomorrow night when the Rhinelanders return to action at Cincinnati against the Chicago Cubs.

Last night's victory gave the Reds a record of four triumphs and six defeats on the 10-game road trip.

Starter Gerry Staley and reliefer Art Fowler gave the Phils 10 hits, but the Cincinnatians never were in any serious danger. Also on the bright side of the defensive picture was the infield play which produced three double plays to give the Reds 14 twin killings in the last four games.

Soviet Scientists Eye Use Of Moon

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said Soviet scientists are looking into the possibility of "using the moon as a reflector for sending back television signals to earth." This would enable TV transmissions to be received almost anywhere the moon shines instead of over a comparatively short range as at present.

'Lowly' Jets Hot In IL Flag Race

COLUMBUS (AP) — It wasn't too long ago that everybody was feeling sorry for the Columbus Jets and rating the Montreal Royals a strong contender for the International League pennant.

Those "lowly" Jets were a near-unanimous pick for the cellar while the "powerful" Royals were chosen to finish near the top. But look at those two clubs today.

The Jets, with six victories in their last eight games, are the hottest team in the league. They won their sixth last night, walloping the Buffalo Bisons, 6-3.

The Royals, with four straight triumphs, defeated Syracuse, 5-3. Montreal has a 12-6 won-lost record while the Jets have played three less games with a 10-5 mark. But both have identical percentages of .667.

Stu Holcomb of Purdue summed it up this way: "It will make it possible to get more effective use out of strictly offensive players as well as provide needed rest of regulars who may be momentarily exhausted or shaken up."

For 2 Games, Redlegs Show Belated Power

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two games hardly can be called a fair test but there are indications Cincinnati's Redlegs at last are beginning to find the range as far as base hits and runs are concerned.

Until Tuesday night, there had been only two games in which the Reds got more than nine hits.

Then they clubbed 11 safeties in defeating the Philadelphia Phils, 7-5. Last night, they came right back with another 11-hit attack and whipped the Phils even more decisively, 7-3.

Last night's job was done without the services of Ted Kluszewski, but Wally Post stepped in to handle the home run chores. He hit two as the Reds completed a sweep of the two-game series with the Phils.

Kluszewski sat out the game because of an injured ankle suffered in Tuesday night's game. He is expected to be back in action tomorrow night when the Rhinelanders return to action at Cincinnati against the Chicago Cubs.

Last night's victory gave the Reds a record of four triumphs and six defeats on the 10-game road trip.

Starter Gerry Staley and reliefer Art Fowler gave the Phils 10 hits, but the Cincinnatians never were in any serious danger. Also on the bright side of the defensive picture was the infield play which produced three double plays to give the Reds 14 twin killings in the last four games.

Soviet Scientists Eye Use Of Moon

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said Soviet scientists are looking into the possibility of "using the moon as a reflector for sending back television signals to earth." This would enable TV transmissions to be received almost anywhere the moon shines instead of over a comparatively short range as at present.

'Lowly' Jets Hot In IL Flag Race

COLUMBUS (AP) — It wasn't too long ago that everybody was feeling sorry for the Columbus Jets and rating the Montreal Royals a strong contender for the International League pennant.

Those "lowly" Jets were a near-unanimous pick for the cellar while the "powerful" Royals were chosen to finish near the top. But look at those two clubs today.

The Jets, with six victories in their last eight games, are the hottest team in the league. They won their sixth last night, walloping the Buffalo Bisons, 6-3.

The Royals, with four straight triumphs, defeated Syracuse, 5-3. Montreal has a 12-6 won-lost record while the Jets have played three less games with a 10-5 mark. But both have identical percentages of .667.

Old-Fashioned Home Run Is Helping Bums

32 Circuit Blows Recorded By Leaders In National League

The Associated Press

The secret of the Brooklyn Dodgers' staggering head start in the National League now is out in the open—and it's not a complicated one. It's nothing more than the old-fashioned home run.

Gil Hodges, Duke Snider and Roy Campanella hit three more at Ebbets Field last night to crush the St. Louis Cardinals 12-4.

This was their sixth victory in a row, their 17th in 19 starts. It gave them a 6-game lead over second-place Chicago.

The Dodgers have hit 32 home runs, accounting for 59 runs. Many of them have come at "clutch" moments.

Right fielder Carl Furillo leads with eight. Snider has seven and Campanella five.

While the Dodgers keep right on sizzling, the other red-hot teams in both leagues run into occasional cool-off periods.

The Cleveland Indians, American League leaders who had won seven of their last eight, were chilled by the New York Yankees, who scored seven runs in the last two innings to win 11-5. The brash Detroit Tigers, winners of 9 of 10 and facing a chance to take over the league lead, dropped a taut 11-inning game to the Boston Red Sox 3-2.

The Chicago Cubs saw a four-game winning streak snapped at the Polo Grounds, where an 11th-inning home run by Whitey Lockman gave the reshuffled New York Giants a 4-3 triumph.

The Kansas City Athletics defeated the Baltimore Orioles 6-5 for their seventh victory in nine games. The Pittsburgh Pirates won their fourth straight, whacking Milwaukee 5-4.

The Washington Senators smothered a late rally to shade the Chicago White Sox 5-4 and Cincinnati's Redlegs walloped the Philadelphia Phillies 7-3 with the aid of two home runs by Wally Post.

Both Snider and Campanella hit their homers for Brooklyn with two men on base while Hodges socked a loner. The Dodgers continued to get good hitting and pitching when they needed it. Johnny Podres, gave up nine hits, including home runs to Rip Repulski and Ken Boyer, but he never was in grave danger.

Manager Leo Durocher shook up the batting order of his world champion Giants and the move paid dividends. Young Foster Castleman, replacing Davey Williams at second, got the first home run of his major league career. Ruben Gomez won the tense mound duel from Sam Jones.

Rookie Roberto Clemente made a spectacular catch to save the Pittsburgh game. He ran deep to the right field stands to spear George Crowe's long drive with two out in the ninth and two men on base for Milwaukee.

Control Artist Big Aid To Omaha

OMAHA (AP)—One good reason for Omaha's perch on the top rung in the American Association standings is a right-handed control artist named Stu Miller.

Miller has yielded only two earned runs in the last 38 innings. He hurled the Cardinals to a four-hit, 4-0 verdict over Indianapolis last night. Minneapolis bowed to Charleston, 4-2, and dropped back to a second place tie with Louisville, 7-4 victory over Denver. St. Paul edged past Toledo into fourth place by taking a 6-5 victory.

9 Colts Set For Kentucky Derby Test

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Preparations for the 81st Kentucky Derby virtually were completed today with at least nine finely tuned 3-year-olds ready for the start.

The name of a tenth may well be dropped into the entry box before the deadline tomorrow.

The horses themselves have completed their training with the exception of a blowout tomorrow and possibly speed sharpeners by two of the favorites—Mrs. John W. Galbreath's Summer Tan and Rex Ellsworth's Swaps. Nashua, the 4-5 choice from William Woodward's Belair stud, is as fit and ready as man can make him.

These three dominate the race almost to the exclusion of all others. Here and there could be found scattered supporters for the Cain Hoy Stable pair of Racing Fool and Flying Fury.

But the early arrivals joined with the trainers of the Derby candidates in picking Nashua as the horse to beat—come rain or shine. And they say it'll be either sumer Tan or Swaps in the runner-up spot. Early odds quoted Summer Tan at 2-1 and Swaps at 6-1.

The weatherman's prediction calls for temperatures hovering around 90 degrees and a lightning fast track. Such conditions could well endanger Whirlaway's record of 2 minutes 1.4 seconds established in 1941.

CHS '9' Wins 5 To 4 Game Against WCH

Circleville High School's baseballers put all their eggs in one basket to take a 5-4 decision from Washington C. H. Wednesday.

(The contest was supposed to have been played Thursday but at the last minute the plans were altered.)

The Tigers, for the third day in a row, came up with a five-run inning. Up to that time, in the fifth, WCH had scored four unearned runs.

For CHS, Jack Clark doubled to left with one out. Jim McConnell brought him home on a single. Callihan reached first on an error with McConnell going to third.

AFTER Walt Sieverts fanned, Eddie Tomlinson brought both runners home with a double to left. Bobby Wellington reached first on another miscue and both rode home on Ralph Jones liner to left.

The Tigers have only two games remaining, both with Hillsboro.

Cleveland Sees Victory String Come To End

CLEVELAND (AP) —Idle today, the Cleveland Indians were still in first place, but their five-game winning string was over and so was Bob Lemon's pitching chain of five in a row.

The New York Yankees jumped on Lemon for four runs in the eighth inning last night and then added three more in the ninth off Ray Narleski to come from behind and win, 11-5.

The Yankee hero was none other than the goat of Tuesday night's game here, catcher Yogi Berra, whose error opened the door for three unearned Cleveland runs and a 7-4 triumph in the opener of the two-game series. He dropped a throw from the outfield when Hank Foiles slid into him at the plate.

"I don't like to take the fellow out after that and he wants to play," said Casey Stengel, Yankee manager. "He ain't a fella that's gonna hurt you too bad. Now I'm glad I play him. There ain't nothing like a couple of hits to help clear up all those injuries."

This is what the squat Yankee catcher, the Bombers' "big man," did last night: Scored four runs himself, got three hits and a walk in five at-bats, and drove in two runs. In the third inning he hit his third homer of the year into the right field seats with none on.

Lemon, who started last season with six victories, yielded three runs in the first inning in a rally that included a walk, a wild pitch, and singles by Hank Bauer, Berra, and Joe Collins. Then he appeared to regain his control. And then came the eighth.

Marciano KOd During Workout

CALISTOGA, Calif. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano was "properly nailed" and floored yesterday by a sparring mate's left hook to the jaw.

"It was a knockdown, no question about it," said Peter Wilson, of the London Daily Mirror. Wilson was one of five British boxing writers watching Rocky work out with Toxie Hall of Chicago.

There was no question, either, that the knockdown couldn't have come at a better time in the build-up for Marciano's May 16 title defense against British challenger Don Cockel lin Kezar Stadiym.

The New York Yankees jumped on Lemon for four runs in the eighth inning last night and then added three more in the ninth off Ray Narleski to come from behind and win, 11-5.

The Yankee hero was none other than the goat of Tuesday night's game here, catcher Yogi Berra, whose error opened the door for three unearned Cleveland runs and a 7-4 triumph in the opener of the two-game series. He dropped a throw from the outfield when Hank Foiles slid into him at the plate.

"I don't like to take the fellow out after that and he wants to play," said Casey Stengel, Yankee manager. "He ain't a fella that's gonna hurt you too bad. Now I'm glad I play him. There ain't nothing like a couple of hits to help clear up all those injuries."

This is what the squat Yankee catcher, the Bombers' "big man," did last night: Scored four runs himself, got three hits and a walk in five at-bats, and drove in two runs. In the third inning he hit his third homer of the year into the right field seats with none on.

Lemon, who started last season with six victories, yielded three runs in the first inning in a rally that included a walk, a wild pitch, and singles by Hank Bauer, Berra, and Joe Collins. Then he appeared to regain his control. And then came the eighth.

Marciano KOd During Workout

CALISTOGA, Calif. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano was "properly nailed" and floored yesterday by a sparring mate's left hook to the jaw.

"It was a knockdown, no question about it," said Peter Wilson, of the London Daily Mirror. Wilson was one of five British boxing writers watching Rocky work out with Toxie Hall of Chicago.

There was no question, either, that the knockdown couldn't have come at a better time in the build-up for Marciano's May 16 title defense against British challenger Don Cockel lin Kezar Stadiym.

Young Horse Club Hears Two Talks

The Buckeye Colt Club heard two talks at their recent meeting; Emmitt Ebenhack spoke on "Breaking A Colt" and Charles Brown talked on "Genetics".

Virginia Barnes reported that her colt, the first to be born to any of the mares the group is using, is doing fine.

Tom Dern is president of the organization.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved wife, daughters and sister, Agnes Andrews who passed away three years ago May 5. This day brings back sad memories of our loved one gone to rest. And day by day we miss her more as we walk through life alone. No one knows the silent heartaches only those who have lost can tell of the grief we bear in silence for the one we loved so well. Friends may think we have forgotten when they see us smile. But little do they know the sorrow that is hid behind the smile. Now we know her work is finished here on earth where mortals dwell. She is missed by all who knew her yet with Jesus all is well. Labor here for her is ended earthly trials and troubles too. God has pulled the final curtain leaving tears for me and you. She has gone to claim the honors from her master there on high and we know the joy will thrill her in the place of no good bye, it's hello to all the loved ones who assemble at the gate and she hears, well done my sister, from the master of all fate. This we're sure if she could beacon to the ones she left so dear she would want each one to follow. It's so wonderful up here. Sadly missed by her husband Russell Andrews, father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Frazier Brothers, Emmett and Robert Frazier, sister Mary Betz.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved wife, daughters and sister, Agnes Andrews who passed away three years ago May 5. This day brings back sad memories of our loved one gone to rest. And day by day we miss her more as we walk through life alone. No one knows the silent heartaches only those who have lost can tell of the grief we bear in silence for the one we loved so well. Friends may think we have forgotten when they see us smile. But little do they know the sorrow that is hid behind the smile. Now we know her work is finished here on earth where mortals dwell. She is missed by all who knew her yet with Jesus all is well. Labor here for her is ended earthly trials and troubles too. God has pulled the final curtain leaving tears for me and you. She has gone to claim the honors from her master there on high and we know the joy will thrill her in the place of no good bye, it's hello to all the loved ones who assemble at the gate and she hears, well done my sister, from the master of all fate. This we're sure if she could beacon to the ones she left so dear she would want each one to follow. It's so wonderful up here. Sadly missed by her husband Russell Andrews, father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Frazier Brothers, Emmett and Robert Frazier, sister Mary Betz.

NEW FLOOR CARE GIVES WAX THE AIR

Throw away the floor wax, ma'am. Here's something better.

Glaxo, a tip-top coating for linoleum or asphalt tile, covers kitchen floors with a water-clear finish that dries in one hour and lasts for months.

Easy to apply, Glaxo gives a high-luster, non-slip surface that wears and wears. You actually save money over wax — and you keep your colorful floor shiny bright.

High Court OKs Custody Decision

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has let stand a Fourth District Court of Appeals decision favoring James B. Gregg in an action for custody of his son, James from his former wife, Loretta Gregg Mitchell. Divorced July 22, 1950, she was awarded custody of their four children.

After Scioto County common pleas court granted the change of James' custody, Gregg filed a motion to dismiss a stay execution of the order. The appellate court sustained dismissal of the stay.

Elks Sponsoring Huge Dance Saturday Night For Youth Day

Similar Events Are Scheduled Around Nation

Junior-Senior Affair At Coliseum Here Will Honor Boy, Girl

Circleville and Pickaway County Elks will honor the boys and girls of the community Saturday night with the fifth annual Elks National Youth Day program.

Exalted Ruler Paul Hang, of the local lodge, said that his organization plans to recognize the achievements of the youth of this area and their contributions as junior citizens to the life of the community. A huge junior-senior dance will be held in the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Similar tributes to youth will be staged by the more than 1,700 Elks lodges across the country.

Members of the Circleville Lodge committee in charge of Saturday's activities include the following:

* * *

DR. DAVID S. Goldschmidt, recently elected trustee of the State Elks Assn.; Joe Bell, chairman; George Young; Bob Seward; Bob Moyer; Ellis List; Andrew Thomas; Jud Lanman; Frank Wantz; Pickaway County Probate Judge Guy Cline; and Ned Dresbach.

One of the highlights at the dance will be the presentation of awards to winners of the lodge's Youth Leadership Contest. This year's winners were Miss Sidney Graves, of Pickaway Township, and Byron Carter, of Jackson Township.

These two seniors won in the district but missed out in the state finals. They will receive savings bonds.

The Youth Leadership Contests is an annual, nation - wide event sponsored by the Youth Activities Committee of the Grand Lodge of Elks. One boy and one girl from each state will compete in the national contest.

Savings bonds, totalling $3,200, are the national prizes. First, second and third prizes (of $800-bonds, $500-bonds and $300-bonds) will be awarded identically for boys and girls.

* * *

JUDGES of the national contest are: Governor Christian A. Herter, of Massachusetts; Governor Robert B. Meyner, of New Jersey; and James A. Farley, former Postmaster General.

Exalted Ruler Hang said that he had been advised by Dewey E. S. Kuhns, chairman of the Grand Lodge Youth Activities Committee, that the first place boy and girl winners in the national contest, in addition to the savings bonds, will receive a trip to Washington, D.C. and will be introduced to President Eisenhower.

Hang said that the purpose of the annual Youth Day observance is to encourage youth on the path of good citizenship by giving deserved recognition of the constructive way in which the boys and girls of this community are discharging their responsibilities and fitting themselves for their future duties.

Wholesale Food Prices Declining

NEW YORK (AP)—Wholesale food prices as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet index declined this week to the lowest level in more than two years.

The index stood at $6.38, the same as on April 21, 1953. A week ago the figure was $6.42 and a year ago $7.38.

The index represents the total cost of one pound each of 31 foods in general use. Dun & Bradstreet said the decline this week was due to small drops in prices of a good number of these items.

Lower were flour, wheat, corn, rye, oats, hams, lard, butter, milk, coffee, cocoa eggs steers and lambs. Higher were barley, sugar, cottonseed oil and hogs.

Legion Backing Prosecution Bill

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The National Executive Committee of the American Legion has endorsed a bill that would give the government more time to prosecute attempted treason, spying and sabotage. The bill, by Sen. Butler (R-Md), would increase from 5 to 15 years the statute of limitations in subversive activities cases.

Elks Sponsoring Huge Dance Saturday Night For Youth Day

Similar Events Are Scheduled Around Nation

Junior-Senior Affair At Coliseum Here Will Honor Boy, Girl

Circleville and Pickaway County Elks will honor the boys and girls of the community Saturday night with the fifth annual Elks National Youth Day program.

Exalted Ruler Paul Hang, of the local lodge, said that his organization plans to recognize the achievements of the youth of this area and their contributions as junior citizens to the life of the community. A huge junior-senior dance will be held in the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Similar tributes to youth will be staged by the more than 1,700 Elks lodges across the country.

Members of the Circleville Lodge committee in charge of Saturday's activities include the following:

* * *

DR. DAVID S. Goldschmidt, recently elected trustee of the State Elks Assn.; Joe Bell, chairman; George Young; Bob Seward; Bob Moyer; Ellis List; Andrew Thomas; Jud Lanman; Frank Wantz; Pickaway County Probate Judge Guy Cline; and Ned Dresbach.

One of the highlights at the dance will be the presentation of awards to winners of the lodge's Youth Leadership Contest. This year's winners were Miss Sidney Graves, of Pickaway Township, and Byron Carter, of Jackson Township.

These two seniors won in the district but missed out in the state finals. They will receive savings bonds.

The Youth Leadership Contests is an annual, nation - wide event sponsored by the Youth Activities Committee of the Grand Lodge of Elks. One boy and one girl from each state will compete in the national contest.

Savings bonds, totalling $3,200, are the national prizes. First, second and third prizes (of $800-bonds, $500-bonds and $300-bonds) will be awarded identically for boys and girls.

* * *

JUDGES of the national contest are: Governor Christian A. Herter, of Massachusetts; Governor Robert B. Meyner, of New Jersey; and James A. Farley, former Postmaster General.

Exalted Ruler Hang said that he had been advised by Dewey E. S. Kuhns, chairman of the Grand Lodge Youth Activities Committee, that the first place boy and girl winners in the national contest, in addition to the savings bonds, will receive a trip to Washington, D.C. and will be introduced to President Eisenhower.

Hang said that the purpose of the annual Youth Day observance is to encourage youth on the path of good citizenship by giving deserved recognition of the constructive way in which the boys and girls of this community are discharging their responsibilities and fitting themselves for their future duties.

Clerk Of Court Issues Report For 4 Months

According to a report from the office of Jim Mowery, clerk of Pickaway County Common Pleas Court, 554 more titles have been filed since the beginning of this year as compared with the same time in 1954.

1954—3,310 titles; 1,460 notations of liens; 1,231 cancellations of liens.

1955—3,864 titles; 1,632 notations of liens; 1,465 cancellations of liens.

IN THE PAST month of April, 1,043 titles, 440 notations and 368 cancellations of liens were filed. For March, there were 1,267 titles, 465 notations and 411 cancellations.

During April of 1955, titles were filed for the following: 88 new cars; 14 new trucks; 1 new station wagon; 1 motorbike; and 2 house trailers.

Wholesale Food Prices Declining

NEW YORK (AP)—Wholesale food prices as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet index declined this week to the lowest level in more than two years.

The index stood at $6.38, the same as on April 21, 1953. A week ago the figure was $6.42 and a year ago $7.38.

The index represents the total cost of one pound each of 31 foods in general use. Dun & Bradstreet said the decline this week was due to small drops in prices of a good number of these items.

Lower were flour, wheat, corn, rye, oats, hams, lard, butter, milk, coffee, cocoa eggs steers and lambs. Higher were barley, sugar, cottonseed oil and hogs.
